When we are old and worn with years, we'll read
This record of our youth, the day, the place;
And we will suit our memory to our need,
And long-forgotten name to faded face.

Sadness will come to us who fail to trace
The dreams we dreamed so certain to succeed.
Time's later generations will erase
The dreamer and the doer and the deed.

Then let us see these tranquil hills again,
Fog-laden trees, the lighted homeward street,
Let us not seek our former years in vain,
Let us find youth unspoiled, and living sweet.
For us once more the splendor and the pain
Dreaming the old world trembles at our feet.

FOREWORD

IN THIS, the 1918 Volume of the BLUE AND GOLD, it has been our utmost aim to consolidate into as few pages as possible a record of the past college year—a record, that we, who are Juniors now, may keep and cherish more and more as the years go by, which may be referred to in after life as a true reminder of the fading reminiscences of our college days. That it is not a complete record we have no doubt. True it is, that there are many incidents, personalities, indeed names which do not even appear on these pages. On the other hand, it may be that too much lead or copper has been expended upon some happening; some individual or his or her name. If anyone has been offended by either the former or the latter, we beg forgiveness.

In gathering together the material which has gone to make up this volume we have realized that there is no end to the matter, both printed and half-toned which might be forced in between these covers. We have further realized that a book of this kind may be easily and unknowingly overdone, and supersaturated with uninteresting and irrelevant material, thus evading the primary purpose for which it was intended—that is, a record of the college year. Consequently, we have endeavored to be as concise as possible, eliminating those things which have appeared as extraneous.

If we have but assembled a partial mass of material which has been gleaned from the happenings of the past college year and have presented them in an interesting and coherent manner, then our efforts have not been in vain. We sincerely hope that our successes may serve as an aid and our mistakes as a warning to the editors who will have in their hands the fates of the Blue and Golds which are to follow in the future.

Wheeler Hall

By JOHN GALEN HOWARD

BENJAMIN IDE WHEELER HALL was designed primarily to house the humanities—roughly speaking, that group of university subjects which make up the regular course of instruction in the old-time American college. The building has been given therefore the character of early American or Colonial architecture.

The dominating feature of the main (south) front is an Ionic colonnade running through the height of the second and third stories and crowning an arched and rusticated first story. The rhythm of the colonnade is accented above the entablature by carved urn-shaped lamps, which, with their flames, symbolize the light of learning. The lamps are decorated with heads of rams, symbolizing procreant power, and garlands, symbolizing the flowers of wisdom. The key-block of each arch is enriched with the head of Apollo, wreathed with bay and garlanded with oak.

The arcade on the south side of the ground story opens into a spacious vaulted vestibule, paved with cork tile, from which opens an auditorium with one thousand seats. This is the largest apartment and occupies the center of the building, being lighted from above by means of an open court.

Most of the rest of the building is occupied by class rooms of a great variety of sizes and shapes, each adapted to special class purposes. The entire fourth story is divided into department offices and studies.

The building, in addition to corridors, stairs, etc., contains 126 rooms.

The University

REMARKABLE GROWTH in all departments of the university during the past year has adequately preserved the continuous and progressive development that has placed and maintained California in the foreground of American collegiate institutions. Owing to the ever-increasing demands of the people of the state, the university is experiencing an era of growth and expansion never before paralleled in its history.

Within the last seven years the Student Body has practically doubled, and during the last year a net total of 6,601 students was reached at a single semester's enrollment at the university proper in Berkeley. To these figures should be added 5,928 to include the enrollment in professional schools in San Francisco, students in the farm school at Davis, students registered in the summer session, and other outlying departments.

Turning back now from the university in its wider influence to the university at Berkeley as based on fixed graduations and prerequisites and adjusted to the highest recognized standards, we find that the growth has been well distributed among its various colleges. The College of Chemistry during the past three years has increased sixty per cent. in size, the Graduate Division fifty-six per cent., Dentistry fifty-four per cent., Letters and Science forty-two per cent., Commerce, Medicine, and Agriculture nineteen per cent.

This pressure of population has led to an enormous building construction during the present year. From the initiative by the people of the state, providing a total of $1,800,000, five new buildings are in present erection. All of these are well along towards completion and will be finished within one year. Benjamin Ide Wheeler Hall, the new class-room building costing more than $700,000, stands imposingly just inside of the Sather Gate. This splendid architectural masterpiece, designed by Professor John Galen Howard, contains an auditorium adequate for the larger lecture courses, together with sixty-two class rooms seating a total of 4,899 persons, and forty-seven professors' offices. In its combined beauty and adaptation to use it ranks with any academic building in the land. Wheeler Hall replaces old North Hall which is to be demolished in May, 1917, along with its traditions of half a century.

The new wing of the Library will cost over $547,000 and represents about seventy-one per cent. of increase in working floor space, with book space for over a million volumes, twenty new seminar rooms, and additional professors' offices. There is further the Agriculture Building costing $375,000 and the Chemistry Building, $220,000, both of re-enforced concrete. These latter two buildings will be ready for occupancy August 15, 1917. With the necessity for more heat and light a new unit has been added to the power plant.

But these great additions seem to afford only partial and temporary relief. There is the greatest and most definite need of a Student Union. Such a building in a larger measure must take the place of the old North Hall basement, and be wholly devoted to student life and student interests. There is need too of an auditorium adjusted to the size of the university. Aside from the Greek Theatre we must meet in Harmon Gymnasium where there are seats for barely half the population. There is essential to the life of the university—a place in which it can assemble itself and become conscious of its own existence. A unit of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps will almost certainly be established at the university in the near future and then there will be a great need of additional armory space, preferably a new and proper building in keeping with the newer and larger system.

Provision for the social life and shelter of the students has ever been a pressing problem, suggesting the building of dormitories. However, the thirty-six men's fraternities, eleven men's house clubs, seventeen women's fraternities, and six women's house clubs have helped to remedy this need. These organizations have responded to their responsibilities and have strengthened and bettered themselves in many ways. They have consented to the publication of the relative scholastic standing of the various organizations with an effort to further improvement, even though the organization average is now above the general student average. This general improvement has given the fraternities and clubs a proper and justifiable place in student life and has removed much of the adverse criticism that has been directed against them in past years by people opposed to fraternities.

Government of the Student Body by the students has been maintained with very little friction and difficulty, and student self-government has become a complete working part of the university.

So, as the year draws to a harmonious and successful close, with each body doing its own work in the interest of the whole, every indication points to the continued prosperity of one of the state's greatest assets, the University of California.

COMMENCEMENT WEEK

Commencement Day

COMMENCEMENT DAY was celebrated by the Class of 1917 on May 17. The Greek Theatre was the place of gathering for the Seniors for the last official get-together of their undergraduate career. Following the invocation by Reverend Francis Greenwood Peabody, Philip Conley spoke on "Discipline and National Efficiency." Miss Lena Meta Schafer was the second one of the graduates to deliver an address. Her subject was "True Democracy." Paul Longstreth Fussell, as the next speaker, discussed "The New Internationalism." After talks by Governor Johnson, President Wheeler and Hugh Samuel Johnson the university medal was awarded to Miss Kathleen Harnett, a student of history.

Senior Pilgrimage

MEMBERS OF THE CLASS OF 1917 bade farewell to the university campus in the annual Pilgrimage on the morning of Monday, May 15. The women met, attired in white dresses and carrying white parasols, at Senior Women's Hall where they were greeted by Helen Lawton, president of the Senior women. The men met at Senior Men's Hall where Lloyd Hamilton spoke of the place of Senior Hall in the control of the undergraduate affairs of the university. In this connection he told of the development of the honor spirit in examinations and the growth of the institution of Senior control.

At Hearst Hall the men and women met. Here Marjorie Hyland reviewed the part which Hearst Hall had played in the undergraduate life of the women students. Lead by the University Cadet Band the

MEN'S PILGRIMAGE

Pilgrimage then proceeded to the Chemistry Building. At this building Charles Cron, after demonstrating the use of liquid air and color reagents, spoke of the development of the Chemistry Department which would follow the completion of the new building.

Frances Marion Hook was honored by being the first speaker at the Sather Campanile. Harlowe Stafford told of the peculiarities of the civil engineering curriculum which precluded the members of that college from participating in college activities. Leon Gazariam was the speaker at the Hearst Memorial Mining Building. Roy Heffner spoke at the Mechanics Building.

The Pilgrimage then proceeded to the Architecture Building and was addressed by Henry Howard. At the North Hall steps, Les Brigham, yell leader, told of the place of North Hall in the life of the undergraduate student and mourned the day when the bench and its surroundings should be destroyed by removal of North Hall.

Vira Georgeson, president of the Associated Women Students, spoke from the steps of the University Library Building. Knowles Ryerson was the speaker at the Agriculture Building. Charles Street, president of the Associated Students, spoke at California Hall. Howard Judy told of the development of the Law School under the direction of Professor William Carey Jones. After hearing Osgood Murdock at Wheeler Hall and Theodore Preble at Harmon Gymnasium, the Pilgrimage proceeded to Senior Oak. Here Matthew Hazeltine, president of the class, spoke of the achievements of the class during its four years in the university. After the singing of "All Hail," the Pilgrimage dispersed.

1916 Senior Extravaganza

"Absent on Leave"

"AN EXTRAVAGANZA WORTHY OF A COPYRIGHT," was the comment of one newspaper critic. And that was the impression the audience got that saw "Absent on Leave" produced in the Greek Theatre on the evening of May 13. The 1916 Extravaganza, written by Hazel Halma Havermale and Roger Fulton Goss, reached a new height in this type of class fantasy, for the authors evaded the element of the personal and centered the merit for the production in the dialogue and lyrics.

"Absent on Leave" was more than a bevy of whimsy choruses, elaborate costumes and grotesque situations. There was a point to the central action. At the same time the spectacular features, characteristic of former extravaganzas, were not left out, but were the result of clever thinking on the part of the authors rather than plain barbaric bigness.

The 1916 Extravaganza was a queer mixture of the modern and the medieval, the sensational and the intangible for the plot combined the spirit of present day college life with that of three centuries ago at the University of Paris.

The spectacular was interspersed throughout the production. In the opening number a steam curtain played about Satan and his flaming-red costumed chorus. "The Warder's Song" was sung by L. H. Brigham from the very top of the grey walls, and in the finale Satan sitting there with steam and lights centered on him provided a scene no less impressive. Large groups of choruses took full advantage of the depth of the stage and the massive opportunities which the Greek Theatre makes possible. The towering walls backed numerous settings of splendid and brilliant coloring.

Elsie Lee and W. S. Rainey carried the leads. The demands upon them were arduous for they were called upon to sing, dance and carry out the main action of the plot. R. M. Light played the other important role.

SENIOR EXTRAVAGANZA

From the standpoint of artistiveness and plot development "Absent On Leave" set a higher mark for future authors to reach. It proved a fitting vehicle for the closing of college dramatic careers and was not hampered on the night of production by the wet, drizzling weather of the year before.

SUMMER CAMP

STUDENTS IN THE ENGINEERING COLLEGES of the university were in attendance at the camp maintained for practice surveying at Swanton in the Santa Cruz Mountains during the summer of 1916. The work was divided into two sections. The first of these was composed of Juniors in the College of Civil Engineering together with about twenty Freshmen. This party left Berkeley immediately after the close of Senior Week. The second party, composed of students from all the engineering colleges occupied the camp a month later.

For the Junior Civil Engineers, the work consisted of railroad location problems carried on to duplicate as nearly as possible the practice in actual construction work. For them the camp is a dismal drudge. There is nothing at Swanton that they had not already seen during the Freshman year. They had already climbed all the peaks, carried transits over all the trails and endured all the varieties of poison oak that thrive in the vicinity of the camp.

AROUND THE FIRE AT NIGHT

But for the Freshmen, new vistas appear with every day. They are treated, many of them for the first time with the trials of camp life; with bedclothes that won't stay put, straw mattresses that develop great holes and mounds with each night's sleep, lunches that defy the most ravishing of appetites, and hills that grow steeper and higher even as one climbs them. But these, the new men soon became used to.

The work of the Freshmen and of the men of the second party consists of the practice of surveying methods as carried on in field work. The men are divided into parties of three, the position of the men changing in the party each day. Each party is required to complete all the allotted problems before leaving the camp.

While the camp life is new to many, it is nevertheless enjoyed by all. There are occasional long walks through the woods, fishing expeditions, all night penny-ante games, and baseball contests. One feature of the camp life is the morning newspaper, issued by each party in camp in turn, generally under a new name each morning. This paper contains all of the scandal of the camp gossip. During the latter part of the session the paper generally is forced to combat with the activities of Mike Dillon, camp janitor and news censor.

Camp breaking is a festivity that every one remembers. Half the members of the camp are busy finishing maps and completing note-books. The other half see to it that the camp is closed with due ceremony. Then every one boards the train for Santa Cruz, with "Oski's" ringing in the air.

READY FOR HOME—WAITING FOR THE TRAIN

CHARTER DAY

CALIFORNIA CELEBRATED the forty-ninth anniversary of the founding of the university in the annual Charter Day ceremonies in the Greek Theatre, March 23. Professor George Herbert Palmer of Harvard University, speaker of the day, found a subject of common interest to himself and his audience in the life of George Berkeley, patron saint of the city.

Professor Palmer told of the three enthusiasms that characterized the life of Bishop Berkeley: "An enthusiasm for the non-existence of the material world, for the founding of a college in America, and for the drinking of tar-water."

In turn the speaker dealt with the activities of Berkeley's life, and demonstrated that, although his enthusiasms were not those which ordinarily stir the blood of mankind, they, nevertheless, resulted from orderly and accurate thought. In regard to the first enthusiasm, Professor Palmer told of the advance made by Berkeley over his friend and teacher, Locke, in the development of idealistic philosophy. Professor Palmer related the incidents which lead to Berkeley's attempt to found a college in America for the training of ministers, which was his second great enthusiasm. Berkeley's faith in the curative properties of tar-water founded upon experiences in America was cited as the third of Berkeley's beliefs.

Previous to the principal speech of the day President Wheeler announced gifts of more than half a million dollars from friends of the university which had been received in the past year.

Members of the Class of 1896 celebrated the twenty-first anniversary of their graduation by the dedication of a marble chair in the Greek Theatre to the memory of Martin Kellogg, former president of the university. Mr. Sidney M. Ehrman, as spokesman, told of the devotion of the members of his class to Martin Kellogg, and pledged their support to the university. "Unified and collective service should be given by every graduating class to its Alma Mater. The gift of the Class of 1896 typifies its devotion to the university and its hopes to do further service. The next twenty-one years must be dedicated to united effort to accomplish the ideals that formed the life of Martin Kellogg."

During the afternoon, the guardianship of the Big "C" was transferred to the Freshman Class by the Sophomores. Members of both classes assembled on Charter Hill where the new and retiring chairmen of the Big "C" committees spoke in behalf of the classes which they represented.

FACULTY-SKULL AND KEY BASEBALL GAME—MOBBING THE UMPIRE

SKULL AND KEY RUNNING

FOR THE FIRST TIME in the history of the organization, the Skull and Key Society held its annual initiation running without the attendance of the women of the university. A taboo placed upon the society by the Pan-Hellenic organization was the cause.

Throughout the morning, the neophytes played knight errant on the paths leading to the campus. At eleven o'clock, the time honored limericks were recited on California Field. No women were present.

The second radical departure from custom occurred when the new members of the society, being denied the privilege of serving lunch at the sororities, placed a cordon of pickets in front of the boycotting houses.

The afternoon's festivities consisted of a chemically pure series of travesties on campus situations given in pantomime on California Field. The following men were initiated:

SKULL AND KEY RUNNING—A LITTLE VAUDEVILLE

FARM COLLEGE YEAR

By DON L. KIEFFER

THE THREE HUNDRED AND EIGHTY STUDENTS enrolled at the University Farm may be divided into two academic groups. First are the regular Farm students and secondly are those students from Berkeley who must spend at least one semester at Davis as a requisite for the College of Agriculture.

The Davis school has a student body organization called the Associated Students of the University Farm. Students from Berkeley for the spring semester affiliate with the A. S. U. F. for the time being, with full privileges and powers and a place on the executive committee for one member.

Picnic Day is the "Big Event" of the Farm and the one held this year on April 28 far surpassed any previous one. Visitors, numbering to the thousands, flocked to Davis as the guests of the "farm boys."

AT WORK IN THE GARDENS

Those in charge of this year's picnic were Colby Slater, general chairman; Howard Burson, athletics; Jack Hunsaker, parade; Randolph Sevier, reception; Elmer Struve, refreshments; Harry Drobish, publicity; Arthur Folger, stock judging; Fred Janney, entertainment and Grant Hunt, dances.

Life among the U. C. Students at the Farm tends toward the ideal existence, for the wily woman is conspicuous by her absence. Consequently, having enjoyed the pleasures and contentments of college without the co-ed, every student of the farm is an anti-co-education booster for good. Women are necessary evils at dances but we rarely dance—here at the Farm. We even tolerate stenographers for necessity's sake. Faculty and students alike enrobe in the oldest of togs and many a youth tries his first crop of down on the Farm.

Life at Davis is made up of work only in the day time with evenings all to oneself. These evenings, as a rule, are spent in the neighboring towns of Sacramento, Woodland or Davis, according to the inclination of the individual.

The work of the Farm curriculum consists chiefly of practical experiments in farming.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE YEAR

Sports and Pastimes Jinx

THE FIRST NOTABLE EVENT of the women's college year was the annual Sports and Pastimes Jinx, held in the form of an Italian carnival or street fair. La Festa, as it was called, took place on November 11th, in Hearst Hall. The main floor was arranged with numerous booths, decorated with chili, garlic, and onions, in which artists and fortune-tellers were busily engaged. Italian peasant girls in bandanas, bright-colored aprons and skirts, sold balloons, flowers, and candy. Organ grinders, singers, tarantula and dagger dancers afforded entertainment, and in the gaily decorated annex there was dancing. Down-stairs, peasant girls sold fruit, spaghetti, raviolas, and tamales. The proceeds of this very successful evening were given to women's athletics.

THE PRYTANEAN FETE

Women's Football Rally

ON NOVEMBER 15th, in Hearst Hall, the women held a football rally in anticipation of the Big Game. It was in the nature of a basket supper, followed by speeches. The girls were divided according to their classes, and during supper, contests were held between the classes in singing bleacher songs and giving yells, each class having its own leader. After supper speeches were made by President Wheeler, Dean Stebbins, Graduate Manager Stroud, Eddie Mahan, who explained the important rules and plays of the American game, Captain Brud Montgomery '17, and Leila Berry '17. The Women's Big "C" Society stunt was a burlesque of various football plays. The rally was well attended and very enthusiastic.

The Prytanean Fete

THE ANNUAL PRYTANEAN FETE was held on March 3, in Harmon Gym. This year it was a Kubist Carnival, original and startling in every feature. The gym was a riot of color, the ceiling was covered in great cubes, and the walls and booths all carried out the effect. "Down the Bloc" were numerous attractions. One whole corner was devoted to fortune-telling, where seven different methods of making known the future were employed. A Futuristic Theatre furnished amusement with Kubist dancers and Vogue tableaux; in another section remarkable Kubist silhouettes were cut. One of the main attractions was the Bohemian cafe, arranged on the stage, where refreshments were served.

ART SCHOOL COLLEGE .. YEAR ..

California School of Fine Arts

DURING THE PAST YEAR the name California School of Design was changed to the California School of Fine Arts. Originally founded in 1874 it is now completing its forty-third year. In 1893 it was affiliated with the University of California, thereby becoming privileged to confer a University Certificate of Proficiency in the Graphic Arts.

The building in which the school is now conducted under the direction of the San Francisco Art Association, is built upon the foundation of the former Mark Hopkins Institute of Art and is considered temporary.

The school has a total enrollment of about 230 students. Night classes and a Saturday class are conducted in addition to the regular courses held during the day. The subjects are taught by a faculty staff composed of ten regular instructors and several special teachers. The curriculum is composed of drawing and painting from antique, still life, life and costumed models, modeling, illustration, composition, decorative and commercial design, etching, handicrafts and a normal course.

In the last National competition conducted by the Art Students' League of New York in which all art students compete, the students of the California School of Fine Arts received distinguished honors, winning eight of the total seventeen awards granted. This has placed the school in the foremost ranks of art institutions in America, causing much favorable comment in Eastern art circles.

With these successes behind the school, a bright future is ahead and plans are already being laid to provide increased facilities for the expected stimulus in attendance.

STUDENTS RECEIVING PRACTICAL INSTRUCTION

The College of Dentistry at San Francisco

THIS YEAR MARKS the completion of certain building activities at the College of Dentistry calculated to meet the demand for larger and better clinical facilities to provide instruction for the increasing number of students enrolled.

A new building has been erected in which the most modern type of equipment has been installed with the view to individualizing the student's activities. Each section is planned and arranged to represent a dental office in so far as it is possible in a large clinic room. Each student is taught both by precept and practice, the generally accepted and approved methods of practicing dentistry both as to his professional work and his relations with his clientele.

On Thursday, October 5, 1916, the Faculty and students observed "Labor Day" to install the new equipment. The greater portion of the work was completed in the morning, after which the toilers sat down to a feed provided by the Faculty and served by the members of the Freshman class. By evening the work was practically finished. The following two days were spent in getting settled in the new quarters.

With the beginning of the next regular session in August, 1917, the four-year course of study will be inaugurated in all dental schools in this country. This is the first step taken in placing dentistry ultimately as a specialty in the broad field of general medicine, toward which it has been gravitating for several years.

JUNIORS AT COLLEGE OF DENTISTRY

At present all courses of instruction will be given in the dental school. When the departments of Physiology, Pathology and Anatomy are moved to San Francisco it is planned to have instruction in these basic medical sciences given by the respective departments.

Although the course prescribed occupies the greater portion of the students' time, students' affairs and matters of general importance are considered by the Student Body as a whole. Meetings are held on the last Thursday of each month. Students' affairs are transacted, generally followed by talks by outside men of standing on subjects of interest and benefit to the members. The Student Body has a membership of 175, the largest in the history of the college. With the extension of the course in dentistry and the transferring of the entire medical course to this side of the Bay the students of dentistry look forward to an organization composed of students of medicine, pharmacy and dentistry.

In all the universities where both medicine and dentistry are being taught, this general plan is being adopted, a striking reversion of the ideas which caused the separation of the schools and the profession, and which brought American dentistry into such prominence throughout the world in the past seventy-five years. Dentistry is more and more becoming to be recognized as one of the vital professions and as a result, the professional men are giving it more of a place.

AGRICULTURAL TRIPS

During the summer of 1916 summer travelling courses in agriculture were conducted by five divisions of the College of Agriculture. These courses, or equivalent work during the summer, are required at the end of the Sophomore year.

The trips, extending for six weeks, were taken by students in the divisions of agronomy, pomology, citriculture, soils and landscape gardening. The first three groups named travelled in automobiles during the entire trip which allowed them to stop at their convenience.

The value to be derived from these interdivision courses lies in the student being able to become acquainted with agricultural conditions throughout the state, not only in his particular field but in other branches as well. Students come in contact with men engaged in the actual work of farming and can learn much from such men's experiences. In addition the summer work gives students a better preparation for the work to be taken up in the upper division of the college.

For the purpose of repairing the Big "C" and the Charter Hill path, the members of the 1919 Class participated in the first Sophomore labor day on November 11. The men met under the leadership of the Sophomore Big "C" committee at the North Hall steps at nine o'clock. Tools for the work of the day were provided by loans from construction companies of the Bay region.

During the morning the concrete emblem was painted and a new system of wiring was installed for the illumination of the Big "C" on the eve of University anniversaries. Along the path, new gravel was placed. The drain ditch above the path was repaired to prevent the erosion of the path by the winter rains.

At noon the workers assembled at Hearst Hall where the women of the class had prepared lunch of the "Labor Day" variety. Beans, coffee, and "dogs" were served in large quantities.

After lunch, members of the class provided music for dancing in Hearst Hall which lasted until the crowd broke up to attend the St. Mary's-Varsity football game.

This was the first annual labor day held by Sophomores.

1917 Senior Week

WHILE THE COLLEGE YEAR of 1916-1917 draws to a close preparations are complete for commencement week of the Class of 1917. Under the direction of the Senior Week committees, plans have been formulated for the ceremonies and festivities incident to the graduation of the class from the university.

Preceding Senior Week, the final University Meeting was held in Harmon Gymnasium on Friday, April 13, at which chosen speakers gave the advice of the Senior Class based upon undergraduate experiences.

Senior Week is scheduled to open with the banquets of the men and women on the evening of Thursday, May 10. The men of the class are to gather at Hotel Whitcomb in San Francisco, while the women meet at the Key Route Inn. The toastmaster of the evening is Charles Josef Carey. Graduates, members of the Faculty and members of the graduating class who have been chosen to speak at the banquet of the men are Benjamin Ide Wheeler, Matthew Christopher Lynch, Charles Frank Stern, Jay Dwiggins, Milton Swartz and Harry Boyd Seymour.

The speakers chosen for the women's banquet are Frances Leslie Brown, toastmistress; Dr. Romilda Paroni, Leila Berry, Margaret Marchant, Anna Barrows, Carol Eberts and Mary Kleineecke.

The evening of Saturday, May 12, has been set aside for the 1917 Extravaganza "Youth Comes Up", by John Robert Bruce and Edwin Marshall Maslin. The play has been coached by Reginald Travers and Fred Carlyle. Alice Bunnell Elliot and James Somers Candee have the leads in the production.

The Most Reverend E. J. Hanna '99, D. D., has been selected to deliver the Baccalaureate Sermon on Sunday, May 13. Members of the class are to attend the services in a body.

Class Day, the climax of the festivities of Senior Week, has been set for Monday, May 14. On this day the members of the graduating class, headed by the Cadet Band, march in turn to the different buildings of the campus where they bid farewell to the scenes of undergraduate activity. From four to six o'clock of the afternoon of Class Day, President Wheeler is to hold a reception for the members of the class at his mansion. Following the step of the 1916 Class, the Senior Ball is to be held off the campus, at Hotel Oakland, on the evening of Class Day.

After the commencement exercises, which are to be held on Wednesday, May 16, the alumni will banquet in Strawberry Canyon.

Other plans included in the programme for this last day are the formal dedication of the new Benjamin Ide Wheeler Hall and farewell ceremonies to Old North Hall.

RALLIES

Freshman Rally

WHEN PROFESSOR HENRY MORSE STEPHENS faced his audience from the stage of the Greek Theatre at the annual Freshman Rally, according to his own statement he found for the first time in his fourteen years experience at welcoming the newcomers, no extraneous material. And that one fact—unimportant as it may seem—makes the official entrance of 1920 into the university community one to be reckoned apart from those of previous classes.

As the "Father of Freshman Classes" looked out over the fitfully leaping flames which lit up the faces of the thousands of spectators he saw but one thing—California Spirit. For on that night the walls of the Greek Theatre enclosed Californians alone. In welcoming the Freshmen the speaker pointed out to the others of the university, as well, what an enormous factor in itself the true spirit of loyalty could be in making of the University of California something larger and finer than anything which mere numbers could indicate.

Football coaches Andy Smith and Eddie Mahan were called upon to tell of the chances of the football team during the season. Both showed their ability as foretellers of the future by predicting a season not victorious but surely far from disastrous. F. W. Stewart '17, president of the A. S. U. C., spoke to the newcomers on behalf of the other three undergraduate classes, impressing on them the duties they owed as Californians.

PAJAMARINO RALLY—MARCHING TO THE GREEK

PAJAMARINO RALLY—SOPHOMORE STUNT

Finally, with the flames burning lower and lower but the spirit of the rally flaring ever higher, the classes serpentine to Harmon Gymnasium and a few moments later, with the closing strains of "All Hail" still sounding in the cool night air, 1920 went home, members of the university community and possessors of the true California Spirit.

Pajamarino Rally

IN MANY WAYS the Pajamarino Rally, which was held on the night of October 12, was a disappointment. Those who expected a brilliant display of university spirit were treated to a performance that was lacking in the essential characteristic of a successful rally. There was no enthusiasm in the pajama clad throng that filled the Greek Theatre to do homage at the shrine of athletic achievement. Perhaps there was too much similarity between the stunts and vaudeville exhibitions. Perhaps the speeches put a damper on any pep that may have intruded. Perhaps the night was too cold. Perhaps, after all, there was nothing to grow enthusiastic about.

As the flames curled over the pile of wood gathered by the Freshmen, the yell leaders, followed by the University Band, lead the serpentine classes into the theatre. The band struck up "The Golden Bear" and the hills rang with the sound of five thousand voices.

Professor Ira B. Cross represented the Faculty as the principal speaker. After looking forward to a successful athletic season, he told of the good things in store for the university in the future. In this regard he predicted the erection of a Students Union for the common meeting place of the Faculty, alumni and students.

Entertainment by the classes followed. The Freshmen depicted the sinking of the good ship "19" by the submarine "U-20" in five minutes of thundering fireworks. The Sophomores were more ambitious, and attempted to entertain with Oriental dancers that couldn't dance and speeches without a gem of wit.

North Hall in all its glory with the steps and the bench were the setting for a series of burlesques by the Juniors. Senior control formed the vehicle for impersonations, while a brawl on the miniature steps gave opportunity for an exposé of the "Peace Committee."

The Senior stunt showed the results of the heavy fall of the hand of the censor. The performance consisted of burial ceremonies for institutions that have been tried and abandoned.

A rally may be best judged by its ending, and from this criterion the rally was unsuccessful. The crowd walked out in silence. There was no big final "Oski." There was no serpentine. There was no evidence of a rally except in the fantastic garbs that reflected the dying embers of the fire.

Varsity Smoker Rally

AN ENTHUSIASTIC EXPRESSION of loyalty was the keynote of the Varsity Smoker from the uproar of the "Siren Oski" to the refrain of "All Hail" in the flickering light of the bonfire on the old baseball field.

Harmon Gymnasium was packed to the doors with lusty spirits all eager to have a part in expressing to the eleven men on the platform their optimistic faith in the outcome of the game. When the din had subsided, Forrest Stanton '09 addressed a few words to the audience concerning the return of the old game.

Professor Hildebrand was the speaker of the evening, introducing Andy Smith and explaining the methods and successes of the new coach. Professor Hildebrand reminded the rooters that it was as much their duty to get behind the team and support it as it was the team's duty to fight out on the field.

VARSITY ATTENDS THE PAJAMARINO

When the chosen eleven filed out on the platform the roar shook the rafters of the gymnasium for fully ten minutes. "The Varsity has not forgotten the defeat at the hands of Washington last year," said Captain Montgomery. "The men have not forgotten about it since last November and everyone is going on the field determined to turn the tables."

Coach Andy Smith received a true California ovation. His talk was sincere, calculating and to the point, and everyone felt that he was expressing a rational judgment on the team's chances.

When Coach Smith had concluded, the serpentine wound its way out into the night and circled toward the huge bonfire.

The Axe Rally

THE STANFORD AXE came out of hiding for the annual rally, commemorating the stealing of the weapon from the Cardinal rooters, on the night of March 29. As Captain Sammy Adair walked into Harmon Gymnasium with the axe over his shoulder, the California rooters rose in pandemonium, as

"Give 'em the axe,
Give 'em the axe,
Give 'em the axe, Where?"

shook the rafters. Ray Rohwer was named as custodian of the axe for the coming year. "The man I have selected as custodian of the axe made the team in his Freshman year. Since then he has played in every intercollegiate game with Stanford. His hitting has been remarkable. He has been a credit to California athletics and to the National pastime," said Custodian Adair in naming his successor.

Coach Andy Smith presented Roy Sharp with the Percy Hall trophy, as the most valuable member of the California football Varsity of 1916.

Musical entertainment was provided by the California Four, and Way Middough and orchestra.

In keeping with the topic of the rally, Dean Barrows spoke of experiences in the Philippine Islands among the trophy hunters, and told in general of the significance of trophies among virile races. California was urged to maintain the axe as a symbol of athletic superiority over Stanford.

Carl Zamlock, coach of the baseball Varsity was found after a search of the gymnasium. He repeated his rally speech of the previous year: "I feel very much like Hans Wagner who was once called upon for a talk. Hans said, 'I make my speeches on the diamond to the umpire.' I'm like Hans; I'll keep what I have to say for the umpire Saturday."

Judge Everett Brown, one of the men responsible for the stealing of the axe, told his recollections of the event.

Lieutenant Truman D. Thorpe

LIEUTENANT THORPE graduated from the United States Military Academy with the Class of 1907 and was assigned to duty with the Coast Artillery Corps at Key West, Florida. In January, 1909, he was retired on account of disability incurred in line of duty and two years later, in 1913, was detailed to the Wentworth Military Academy at Lexington, Missouri. Later, in 1914, he was transferred to Ohio State University to act as assistant to the commandant at that institution, serving there until July, 1916, when he came to the University of California as Assistant Professor in Military Science and Tactics. In addition to commanding the Third Battalion on the drill field he gives instruction in infantry problems to three sections of non-commissioned officers, courses which heretofore have been conducted by the commandant.

LIEUT. THORPE

Half-Day Drills

PROBABLY A LARGE SHARE of the benefit to be had from the military training at the University of California is that derived from the five or six half-day drills which are given each year. It is in the lesson gained from these marches that the students get a glimpse of real campaign conduct.

The object of these marches falls under three distinct heads. First is the idea of gaining security for an army while it is on the march. That this end may be accomplished, "points" must be sent ahead for advance reconnaissance, and patrols sent out to the flanks and to the rear to guard against hostile envelopment of the main body which may happen to show up.

The second phase of this drill is had in the sham battles which are worked out in the region bordering Cerritos Creek. One company of cadets is usually selected to outline the enemy and the rest of the regiment maneuvered against them. All these maneuvers are conducted by student officers supervised and umpired by competent men from the United States Army.

Finally the march discipline to which the students are subjected while on the road must be taken into account. For most of the unseasoned cadets the fourteen pound burden of rifle and equipment proves irksome before the ten-mile tramp is finished, and the self-restraint imposed is no small part of the benefit derived from the half-day's work.

From this it must be apparent that these week-end drills are of great value both in fitting a student to be of use to the Nation in time of need and as a means of disciplinary training invaluable in other walks of life.

The Summer Training Camps

EACH YEAR THE IMPORTANCE of the summer training camps of this country increases in a marked degree. These institutions have now become so well founded that this year will find a dozen well located and permanent camps distributed over the United States in place of the five or six imperfectly organized training places of last year. It is expected, moreover, that fully forty thousand men will be in attendance as compared with the twenty thousand of last summer and the two thousand of 1915. A Federal appropriation of two million dollars for the maintenance of these camps, and the consequent relief of the individual expense, will bring out the deep significance attached to them by the War Department.

COLORS PASSING THE PRESIDENT'S HOUSE

The organization of these institutions is of quite recent date. They had their beginning in two training camps for college students in 1913. The undertaking proved so popular and the result so satisfactory that the Federal authorities considered a repetition warranted in the summer of 1914. In evidence of their increased confidence, the following year, 1915, witnessed not only the continuation of the students' camps, but the installation of similarly conducted camps for business men. Last year the attendance increased 600 per cent. over that of 1915, and army officers are confident that the number this coming summer will fully double that of 1916.

For students at California the chief interest naturally centers about the camp situated in this state. Last year many university men were at the Monterey camp, and this year, with two camps at Santa Barbara, the attendance should be more than doubled. At Monterey last summer the chief instruction was directed toward infantry branches, which included such fundamentals as minor tactics, rifle practice, trench construction, and camp sanitation. Toward the close of the training period, when the "rookies" had become more seasoned, maneuvers involving the larger units were introduced, and the summer was closed with a blank cartridge battle involving one regiment of infantry and a battalion of artillery.

It may be said, then, that the chief aim of these camps is to prepare men to be of value on the firing line or as officers for the service of the country in time of war. The physical benefit, disciplinary training, and drill in team work are chief among the valuable assets derived.

Officers' Reserve Corps Training Association

ON THE THIRD OF JUNE, 1916, Congress passed an act "for making further and more effectual provisions for the national defense." Under this act the Officers' Reserve Corps has been created for the purpose of securing a reserve of trained men available for service as temporary officers in the regular army. Appointment of citizens as reserve officers is based upon physical and mental examination specially directed to ascertain the practical capacity of the applicant. The record of his previous service and training is considered a part of the examination.

It was with the idea of preparing members of the university and others of the community to take the examinations for reserve commissions that the University of California Officers' Reserve Corps Training Association was formed. The work of organization was undertaken by a committee of Faculty members headed by David P. Barrows, and thru their efforts a course of lectures on theoretical and general problems of army administration has been arranged for members of the association.

For those members desiring tactical instruction a provisional company of infantry has been organized. On the company roster may be found names of Faculty members, students, and men prominent in business in the community. Standard equipment, including shelter tents and escort wagon, was issued for the use of the company by order of General Bell, Commander of the Western Division, U. S. Army.

IN SPITE OF SEVERAL FALSE STARTS many years ago, when the university was just large enough to enjoy a four-page monthly, the growth and development of the Daily Californian has been steady and has resulted in producing a paper which can be ranked along with the best of the college dailies. The College Echo, in 1868, was the foundation stone which in time gave rise to The Berkeleyan. In 1898 the Daily Californian appeared for the first time as Volume 10 of a second series of Berkeleyans which had been started in 1892. Rapid growth and marked changes have characterized the history of the paper from then on to the present year. In 1910 the Associated Students acquired the Californian and established it on its present sound financial basis.

This year, because of lack of space to care for the campus news the sheet has been increased from six to eight columns in width and a proportionate amount in length. This permits a more efficient handling of the news by the editorial staff and also allows a greater variety in the "make-up" of the paper, adding to its attractiveness as well as its usefulness.

Through the "beat system" of handling stories the various departments of instruction and investigation have received publicity and the campus has become somewhat better acquainted with the work and activities of the technical and scientific branches.

A feature of the editorial columns has been the reappearance of "Little Bobbie" on several occasions when campus activities have tempted him to indite a letter to "Dere Frend Mike." Lastly, the editorials themselves have proven a factor in turning the minds of the students towards the more serious problems of college and outside life.

In the following statistics, the editors and managers of The Berkeleyan and Daily Californian have been tabulated since volume one. For the first nine volumes the paper was known as The Berkeleyan. Since that time it has been called The Daily Californian.

BLUE & GOLD

WITHIN THE LAST FEW YEARS the BLUE AND GOLD has come to represent far more than a record of the Junior Class of the university. It is an institution and an activity by itself. Simultaneously with the growth of the book, the difficulties and responsibilities of producing the annual have also increased.

The problem of keeping up the high standard set by previous classes in publishing their year books has been the greatest obstacle to the 1918 staff due to the increase in the cost of materials, with few means of increasing the income to meet these higher expenses.

As in the past two years, since the institution of the merit system by

WITHOUT DEPENDING TOO MUCH upon the contributions of people well known to the university reading public, the Occident has forged ahead again in to the list of the first five magazines of college publications in the United States. The Occident has won this coveted position only through the conscientious and untiring efforts of the staff, who have striven unceasingly to maintain a high standard.

SINCE THE YEAR 1914-15 the Pelican has held, with few exceptions, to its new policy of satiring "the crime as it appears in the species and not as it is circumstanced in the individual" with such success that future adherence to that principle is practically assured.

With this end in view the university's one comic magazine has followed the highest standards of humor and attempted to be a leader in the world of college lampoon periodicals, many of whom still cling to individual attacks for their fun.

The bounds of the campus have limited the field of production with the exception of some art work by students of San Francisco Institute of Art and the California School of Arts and Crafts.

California Law Review

WAIRHAFTIG, STUDENT EDITOR

HOLLINS, STUDENT MANAGER

FOUNDED IN THE BELIEF that "the life of law is certainly larger than the sum of law reports and statutes," and for the purpose of providing an organ for those who are interested in the subject to express their views thereon, the California Law Review has in the short period of its existence assumed a commanding position among the legal periodicals of the country. Dealing with a more restricted field than do the national legal periodicals, the Law Review is able to deal more intensively with the problems that come before it for discussion. It deals particularly with legal problems affecting the Pacific Coast states, and especially California law.

The Review is published bi-monthly by the faculty and students of the School of Jurisprudence of the University of California. The officers for the year 1916-1917 are:

Editor-in-chief, Orrin K. McMurray; Student Editor-in-chief, Matt Wahrhaftig '14; Business Manager, M. C. Lynch; Student Business Manager, S. F. Hollins '15; Secretary, Rosamond Parma '08.

Faculty Board of Editors: Wm. Carey Jones, A. M. Kidd, Wm. E. Colby, M. E. Harrison, A. P. Matthew, M. C. Lynch, J. U. Calkins, Jr.

Student Board of Editors: Jacob Goldberg '15, Wm. A. Sitton '15, Associate Editors, S. M. Arndt '16, E. W. Davis '16, R. E. Hoyt '15, L. N. Hamilton '16, H. A. Jones '15, J. L. Knowles '15, J. C. Nichols '16, O. C. Parkinson '15, Esther B. Phillips '09, Carol A. Rehfish '15, J. B. Whitton '16, Frances H. Wilson '15.

The Journal of Agriculture

ALLIN, MANAGER

RYERSON, EDITOR

DEDICATED TO THE PURPOSE OF HELPING PEOPLE lead better, happier and more useful lives in the country, the fourth volume of the University of California Journal of Agriculture has made its monthly appearance this year in a new and larger form. The change to the large size, together with the additional illumination of the cover by means of an attractive series of color cuts, has made possible a wider field of activity, both in reading material and circulation.

A publication such as this serves a twofold purpose, first, that of uniting the students in the College of Agriculture to a common motive, and secondly, it is a factor in the dissemination of the influence of the college over the state and among the people who can profit by its messages. In so doing, the editors have selected material from the widest field possible, ranging from the concrete practical to more abstract social and economic problems of the country and written by experts of recognized authority.

The publication is entirely student-edited and managed. The personnel of the staff for the year 1916-17 is as follows:

Editor, Knowles A. Ryerson '16; Associate Editor, William C. Tesche '18; Manager, Geo. D. Allin '17; Assistant Manager, William V. Goin '19; Editorial Staff, J. E. Tippet '18, M. R. Huberty '18, J. L. Barter '19, L. R. Ward '19, L. W. Taylor '18, H. E. Drobish '17, O. Jenkinson '20, R. Jenkinson '18. Managerial Staff, W. C. Morrison '17, W. A. Degen '17, C. M. Seibert '18, C. J. Rolph, Jr. '18, F. O. Ballou '19, J. C. Gray '20, M. A. Soderberg '17.

The Alumni Fortnightly

ALTHOUGH THE CALIFORNIA ALUMNI ASSOCIATION has been an active factor in university life for a period of forty-five years, it was not until 1907 that an alumni publication devoted entirely to the interests of the graduates was brought to life. Prior to 1907 the University of California Magazine and the Chronicle at different times served in the capacity as the publication of the alumni. The experiment with periodicals partly devoted to alumni interests was hardly successful. As a result, in the administration of President James K. Moffitt '86, the California Alumni Weekly was established. The publication of the Weekly was continued without interruption for a period of eight years. In that time the prime importance of an alumni periodical was clearly obvious. In January, 1916, when the office of the association was reorganized, the Weekly was changed from the four-page newspaper form to a sixteen-page magazine, and the frequency of issue was altered from once a week to twice a month.

RONEY, EDITOR

It is too early to forecast the wisdom of the change. A few figures, perhaps, may be in point. For many years the former paper was published at an average loss of $500 a year; the present paper, in the opening term of its life, produced an approximate profit of $1,039.99. As to circulation, in the fall of 1915 the paid circulation of the Weekly was 834; at the end of the first year of the Fortnightly, the paid circulation was 2,624, with a guaranteed distribution of 3,150.

With the change in form came a change in policy. The printing of a detailed account of campus events gave way to an attempt at summarizing a series of events as they happen on the campus with the purpose of interpreting for the alumni the meaning of these happenings. Feature articles relating to the development of the university and the activity of the alumni in relation to the university have been secured from time to time. Among the contributors have been President Wheeler, Dean Barrows, James Hopper '98, Col. George C. Edwards '73, Paul A. Sinsheimer '01, George M. Stratton '88, Carleton H. Parker '04, William Nat Friend '96, and Prof. J. Loewenberg.

DEBATING

The Intercollegiate Debate

By MARTIN S. ROSENBLATT

THE 1916 INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATE with Stanford represented a departure from established debating procedure. No decision was rendered. There has always been considerable difficulty in securing judges, so this year the debate was undertaken without judges. This gave a new goal for the teams to strive for. Instead of satisfying two members of a highly intellectual board of judges, the speakers had to win the favor of an entire audience, for the only decision was to be the audience's unspoken opinion of the debate. Naturally, technicalities were to be avoided. To insure this the Stanford and California teams met early before the debate to agree upon an interpretation of the question. Popular interest was guaranteed by choosing a preparedness question, the exact subject being "Resolved, That the United States Should Adopt a System of Compulsory Military Training Similar to that of Switzerland."

The debate was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in San Francisco, November 24th, 1916, Professor Arthur U. Pope of California presiding. Although no decision was formally handed down, California was almost unanimously conceded the victory by the audience. Both teams strove to make their arguments clear-cut and orderly, but it is the common opinion that the California team was the more successful in this regard.

D. W. Evans '20 opened Stanford's argument in favor of the Swiss system. He pointed out the need for preparedness, indicating the perilous position of the United States due to her open-door policy in China, her adherence to the Monroe Doctrine, and the dangerous status of neutrals in the present war. C. J. Knight '19, Stanford's second speaker, devoted the major portion of his time to the contention that the volunteer system can never give this country the large army we need and that conscription is our only remedy. H. C. Blote '18, then concluded Stanford's argument with an attempt to show that the Swiss system will give the necessary army without bringing any evil consequences.

The negative argument was opened for California by M. S. Rosenblatt '18.

HYDE

INTERCOLLEGIATE AND CARNOT TEAMS

He first briefly indicated that the Swiss system of military training is universal, compulsory, and periodic. He then outlined the complete argument for the negative, characterizing the Swiss system as unnecessary, inadequate and highly dangerous. Unnecessary, because it would give the United States fourteen and a half million men; inadequate, because the men would have received only one hundred and sixty-five days' training scattered over a period of thirty years; dangerous, because it would lull the United States into a false sense of security. "The United States," he said, "doesn't need an army of fourteen and a half million men, and one hundred and sixty-five days' training scattered over a period of thirty years won't make an efficient soldier. The only system for the United States is that advocated by General Leonard Wood, a small army of highly trained soldiers such as can be secured by the volunteer system."

ROSENBLATT
INTERCOLLEGIATE AND CARNOT TEAMS

H. A. Hyde '17 retraced California's three-fold argument and laid special emphasis on the inadequacy of the short Swiss training. He pointed out that modern warfare is a battle of science and technical skill and that every soldier must receive intensive training for a period of not less than one year.

Ray Vandervoort '18 was the third speaker for the negative. His speech, like those of his team mates, covered all of California's three points. In this way the audience received the entire negative argument three distinct times. There was no chance for misunderstanding. Vandervoort showed rare skill in rebutting the affirmative arguments and in a humorous but forceful way put the last touches necessary to drive California's arguments home.

Hyde concluded for the negative with a seven-minute rebuttal. Philip Matthews '18 was alternate for the California team.

Freshman-Sophomore Debate

ACCORDING TO THE REGULAR CUSTOM, the annual Sophomore-Freshman debate took place this year upon the campus. The question which the two under classes had up for discussion was, "Resolved, That the Adamson Eight-hour Bill Should Be Repealed." The discussion took place on the evening of November 2. Class rivalry seemed to be more keen than usual in debating, for a large crowd of supporters of both sides turned out to back their respective favorites. The Sophomore team was composed of W. M. Green '19, L. H. Nuland '19, and H. A. Mazzeria '19, while the first-year class was represented by L. L. Thornburg '20, R. N. Chase '20 and Ezra Shapeero '20.

The debate was interesting and from the standpoint of the audience was also exceedingly instructive. Every member of the teams showed that much conscientious and detailed study had been expended in the preparation of the topic. Although the decision was awarded to the Sophomores as upholding the affirmative of the question, nevertheless the first-year men were deserving of a great deal of credit for the excellent manner in which they put forth their first forensic efforts on the campus. Especially was the refutation of the 1920 debaters noticeable as representing clever arguing ability and the power to attack their opponent's points.

The judges for the discussion were: Professor W. A. Morris, Mr. J. R. Douglas and Mr. Paul Fussell.

Carnot Debate

IN 1895 BARON DE COUBERTIN inaugurated the annual Carnot debate between California and Stanford. The subject for the discussion must always be a French problem, and the method pursued in the contest is this: Early in the year a general topic is assigned; this year, "France's Policy of Reconstruction After the Present War." Two hours before the debate the three representatives of each college are given a specific resolution. Sides are chosen and the speakers then have two hours in which to prepare their arguments. The speeches are naturally extemporaneous, each contestant depending upon the information he has acquired in the months devoted to the study of the general topic. The medal, named after Carnot, martyr president of France, is awarded to the best individual debater as judged upon the merits of the contest.

The tryouts for the Carnot team are conducted much as the final debate. March 8, at 5 o'clock, the California debating aspirants were given the question, "Resolved, That of the Problems Which Will Confront France After the War, the Most Pressing Will Be Political Rather than Economic." Two hours and a half later the tryouts took place. Those selected for the team were S. K. Burke '17, H. A. Hyde '17, M. S. Rosenblatt '18, and Ray Vandervoort '18 alternate. Professors Flaherty, Wright and Mr. Leebrick acted as judges.

The final debate was scheduled for April 13 at Stanford, unfortunately too late to be reported in this section.

Intersociety Debates

This year has seen the institution of intersociety debates with Stanford. November 17, 1916, the Congress Debating Society represented by Abe Schmulowitz '18, T. C. Lawson '18, and W. M. Green '19, received a unanimous decision over the team of the Stanford Nestoria Debating Society. The Senate team, L. A. Cleary '18, P. H. Walker '18, and L. H. Nuland '19, was defeated by the Euphronia team in a close debate, the decision being two to one in favor of the Stanford society team. Both debates were on the Adamson Bill, and both discussions took place the same night, the Senate team remaining on the California campus, while the Congress team journeyed to Stanford.

These discussions are well received by the debating followers of both California and Stanford and it is hoped that they may be continued in the future. As well as furnishing an excellent channel for the furthering of practice in public speaking it also provides a means of bringing the two institutions of learning into closer touch with each other.

Upper Division Bonnheim Essay Contest

THE DEATH OF ALBERT BONNHEIM brings with it good cause to think of the many splendid things he has done for the university. Not least was his interest in forensics, in which field he provided two essay prizes, one for upper and one for lower division students.

This year the final discussion for the upper division contest was won by Calmur J. Struble '17 on the subject of "A Government Monopoly of the Manufacture of Ammunition and Instruments of War."

Senior Extravaganzas

EXTRAVAGANZAS were introduced to the University's Commencement Week by Maida Castelhun (Mrs. Charles Darnton) and F. G. Burgess in 1894 when their work, "The Vehme Gericht" was produced. Illustrious graduates of the university are found in this field also. James Hopper wrote the 1898 Extravaganza, entitled, "Chinese Birthday Festival." Professor C. H. Parker, now head of the Economics Department at the University of Washington, wrote the 1904 Extravaganza, "Anyman Can't Graduate." In collaboration with D. L. Levy, Sam Humie, well-known for his work in pageantry in the East, wrote the 1908 Extravaganza, "The King and The Booster."

A list of the extravaganzas and their authors follows:

1894	*"The Vehme Gericht".....	Miss Maida Castelhun (Mrs. Chas. Darnton) and F. G. Burgess.
1895	*"Eleusinia," A Grecian Spectacle.....	Miss Gertrude Henderson and Walter H. Graves
1896	No performance.....
1897	*"Atter Funeral Rites".....	Roger S. Phelps and Edward O. Allen
1898	"Chinese Birthday Festival".....	James Hopper
1899	"Arabian Pageant" (otherwise called "A Persian Wedding").....	David Raymond Curti and Laura May Bufington (Mrs. Byron E. Jones)
1900	*"Quest of the Golden Fleece".....	Miss Alice Humphreys
1901	"Pilgrimage to the Shrine of the Dragon Faculty".....	Hugh McCuskey Love, Mr. Jewel Alexander and Herbert Moore
1902	"Robin Hood".....	Miss Lala McKinnis
1903	*"Knight of Ye Burnt Pretzel".....	Earl Charles Anthony and James Moswin Koford
1904	"Anyman Can't Graduate".....	Carleton Hubbell Parker and Arthur Lorenzo Price
1905	*"The Royal Road".....	Bert Campbell, Augustine C. Keane and Joseph Phillip Loch.
1906	No performance on account of the earthquake and fire.
1907	*"The Limit".....	Harold Ann Clarke and Isabel McReynolds (Mrs. Gray)
1908	*"The King and the Booster".....	David Livingston Levy and Sam J. Humie
1909	*"The Infernal Masculine".....	Miss Christina Krysto
1910	*"The Chaser".....	Nathaniel Schmauowitz
1911	"The Hop King".....	Edwin Scott Walker
1912	"Ephraim".....	Camillus Nelson Hockett
1913	*"The Mischief-Makers".....	Victor Cleuney Guines
1914	"King Henry I".....	Lawrence Livingston Levy
1915	*"Fant Lux".....	Frederick Schiller Faust and Sidney Coe Howard
1916	*"Absent on Leave".....	Hazel H. Invernale and Roger Fulton Goss
1917	"Youth Comes Up".....	Edwin Marshall Maslin and John Roberts Bruce

Junior Farces and Curtain Raisers

THE PRECEDENT THAT ESTABLISHED JUNIOR DAY on the California campus is of forty-two years standing. Away back in 1875, the Junior Class of 1876, spread the news throughout the university that on May 14 they would hold a "Junior Exhibition," or "Junior Exercises." These exercises began in the morning with a programme of poems, essays and orations. The afternoon was given over to dancing.

In 1891 the first Junior Farce was produced, entitled, "Hamlet At College." It was written by Burton L. Hall. No complete copy of this is extant.

Since Burton Hall's farce, California has come to have other noted playwrights in its lists. Frank Norris wrote the farce of the Class of 1892, entitled "Two Pair." In 1899 Richard Walton Tully wrote what is generally regarded as the most worth-while farce of all. He called it "James Wobberts, Freshman" but it has been taken onto the professional stage and is better known under the title "A Strenuous Life." Walter De Leon, who for several seasons played the lead in Ferris Hartman's musical company, wrote the 1906 farce and named it, "Just About Now."

The curtain raisers began in 1898 when Raymond Russ wrote "Seven Years After."

The following is a list of the farces and curtain raisers produced by the various classes, with their authors and co-authors:

Class	When Produced	Title	Author
1891	Dec. 14, 1890	"Hamlet at College".....	Burton L. Hall

"ANDROCLES AND THE LION"

DOROTHY REEDY, ALICE ELLIOT, JOE STURGIS, EARL WASHBURN, JOHN DAY

"Androcles and the Lion"

INCONGRUITY WAS THE KEYNOTE of "Androcles and the Lion," produced by the English Club, October 14, in the Greek Theatre. But the play, under George Bernard Shaw's able handling, was a comedy genuine enough to over-ride for all but the hypercritical spectator, the disturbing inharmonies. For such a person, the ponderous dignity of the Greek Theatre, with a curtain of Pacific fog hung above the footlights, stands in unseemly contrast to the performance of a Shavian satire, employing a Roman fable and a papier-mache lion with electric eyes.

The Lion, the last character the play might lose, is more than a mere half-title. There was a knowing subtlety about him, a prowling punctuality for his cue, too great a delight in his "velvet paws" to permit dramatic disregard for the beast. Herbert Hall '17, inclosed throughout the performance in beastly attire, portrayed as deep an insight into the anatomy and psychology of the kingly species as the play's author might desire.

The color and group arrangement of the mob scenes was one of the play's best features. Pageantry is a newly developed step in campus productions. We are finding that finesse alone will not carry a play on our stage. Our dramatic work needs bold, well-drawn lines and it was agreeable to note that the mob in "Androcles and the Lion" was more than convenient scenery for the leads. Each member of the mob seemed to live and act the spirit of the play.

Harold Black '17 made a composite tailor, Christian, hero and husband, who would have been more admirable if not so desirous of being so. He prepared to die well, and danced even better, but our sympathy for Andy was awakened not in his own acting but in Miss Wetmore's portrayal of Megaera, his shrewish wife. Indeed the necessary sympathy for Androcles was her only excuse for being.

Orville Caldwell '18 as Ferrivius played a part manifestly absurd and played it very well, that is to say, absurdly. Lacking the revelation from Shaw, nothing short of the omniscient assurance could have made an actor certain as to the interpretation of the character. Caldwell chose the simplest interpretation and made the best possible matter of a bad thing. In the role of the Emperor, E. S. Rosenthal '18 had an easier part, an emperor after our own hearts, admirably suited to the tanning of two-legged lions and unkingly terrors. Alice Elliott's Lavinia was a woman of a single mood, obviously only one-half Shaw's Lavinia. Her natural loveliness and poise made a charming Lavinia.

The audience listened in vain for a note of sincerity under such lines as hers. Miss Elliott might have had the center of the stage. Hers were the real words of the play. Instead she chose to be merely one of many so-called Christians, albeit the most charming.

Lastly, we should like to discover the play's moral, whether a moral intended by Shaw or not. For the amateur critic, full of criticism for the amateur actor, there is a moral in Andy's anxious admonition as the zealous beast leaps at his prey.

So the critic, before he parts with that cheapest of all commodities, criticism, should remember in the future, before he multiplies his condemnation, this play's moral in our hero's warning, "Velvet Paws!"

CHORUS FROM "WHAT NEXT"

"What Next"

A MUSICAL OPERA is a success if it makes the audience forget burdens and worries, to laugh and enjoy the gaiety and carefreeness of its songs and choruses. "What Next," written by I. B. Kornblum '17 and H. E. Kowalsky '17 and produced by Treble Clef Society, October 17, in the Oakland Civic Auditorium, was a success. The audience testified to this for they handclapped vigorously every one of the nineteen songs that were on the programme, and it was necessary to encore several two and three times. They appreciated the unusual situations in the plot and received the actors enthusiastically.

But the music deserves first consideration: it was the outstanding feature of the production. When the lyrics lacked punch, when the plot dragged, when the actors got excited and nervous and finesse in the dances was forgotten, the music came to the front and demanded applause. It was catchy and original, and time and again the audience showed their appreciation of its quality.

Of the lyrics "Two Thousand Years Ago," sung by Camille Purdy '18 and "It's Great to be a Potentate," by E. S. Ward '19 were perhaps the best.

They both were original and clever, but the popularity of their interpreters added much to their enjoyment. The first was sung by Camille Purdy '18 and was done in a finished style. She was backed by an original chorus and was encored time and again by the audience. It was the best song hit of the production. "It's Great to be a Potentate," by E. S. Ward '19, was appreciated more because of the style in which it was presented by Ward than because of any special inherent quality in the number. The piece was written for Ward and the author made no mistake in assigning it to him.

"Summer Girl" and "When I Dance With You" were two other numbers that deserve praise. The tunes were exceptionally catchy and original and rank well with the popular professional music of the day.

So if the fastidious critic found flaws in the staging, if the actors did not maintain a professional standard at all times, these weaknesses can be overlooked. E. S. Ward '19 in the role of Dubs, the stout waiter, was particularly jocose. He was suited to the part perfectly and if there was a star among the actors it was he. O. R. Caldwell '18 has had better parts than Gerald Sherwood, the rich son and hero of the play. But the role was difficult for this very reason and it is doubtful whether it could have been interpreted much different. W. F. Mayock '17 was well cast in the gruff, surly character of Titus Sherwood. Among the women characters Nellie Walker '19 was perhaps the most finished, and Sadie Fredericks '17 the most spontaneous.

Following is the cast of characters in the order of their appearance:

The Curtain Raiser

A CURTAIN RAISER that fulfilled its every requirement, that knew its limitations and kept within them, that was original and entertaining, that was a definite dramatic accomplishment, was "The Trouble Track," the 1918 curtain raiser written by Leslie Brown. That was the unanimous opinion of all the critics.

"The Trouble Track" attempted to do nothing more than to fulfill its function. A curtain raiser is only the "key-noter" of the afternoon. It creates the atmosphere. And "The Trouble Track" put a refreshing taste in the mouths of the audience.

It was short but the plot action was rapid-fire. There were no lulls in the development of the threads of the story and the logical and probable complications produced laugh after laugh from the audience and worked up a spirit for the day.

But the merit of "The Trouble Track" lay in the fact that it was different. It was immune from over-worked phrases and situations. It got away from the commonplace but yet kept to the probable. It was unostentatious. It was genuine. It sets a high water mark for curtain raisers of the future.

The cast was not the best talent that was in the class. That was reserved for the farce. And so if it can be said that the curtain raiser succeeded in winning praise from the audience and critics that was unanimous, it is that much more of a compliment to the author.

And that is not to say that the acting was bad. It was not. But it showed lack of experience, and many times only the witty sayings and sudden, unexpected developments saved the plot. So it can be truly said that it was the real worth of the skit itself that scored.

But there was some finished acting. Catherine Woolsey mastered an extremely difficult part that required real dramatic ability to portray. And she did portray it well.

Lavinia Brown carried out the main thread of the sketch in a satisfactory manner. L. D. Sanderson was rather embarrassed and ill at ease in the leading man's role. The cast follows:

Helen Armistead .....	LAVINIA BROWN
Jim Trevor .....	L. D. SANDERSON

The Junior Farce

JUDGMENT ON A JUNIOR FARCE must be passed by the Junior Class. If the farce is entertaining to them, if it provokes laughs, if they approve it, even if that approval be only temporary, then it must be conceded to have achieved its purpose. And "Pin Pricks," by Camille Purdy and E. M. Jaffa, was voted a success by the Junior Class. They applauded it, and laughed, and were satisfied.

Perhaps the 1918 farce did not rank with "A Strenuous Life" or "Two Pair," its more illustrious predecessors, but then every class cannot boast a Richard Walton Tully or a Frank Norris. "Pin Pricks" scored, not because of its dramatic structure or dramatic action, in which particulars perhaps more could have been accomplished, but because it was appreciated by the Junior Class.

It was the cast and work of the coach that made the farce liked. The most popular and talented actors in the Junior Class carried the parts and their work, because it was well done and because they were all members of the class, was applauded and appreciated.

There were places in the development of the plot that could have been smoothed out a bit more, perhaps, situations and predicaments that would have been a bit more original, action that could have been faster, but there could not have been more made of the material in hand, there could not have been a better-cast group of actors chosen from the class, there could not have been better spirit and effort put forth than was given by Coach Carlyse in his endeavors to make the production a success.

So if the irrepressible critic must insist that "Pin Pricks" was not a farce in the true sense of the word, let him temper his censure with the thought that a Junior Farce is written for the express purpose of entertaining Juniors on Junior Day and if it escapes criticism from them, if it satisfies them, then it has served its function.

When an audience knows the capabilities of the actors, it is more prone to observe whether full advantage is being taken of the opportunities in each part than to watch for and criticise the shortcomings of the structure of the dramatic work itself. And that is what the 1918 Junior Farce audience did. It approved the play because the actors made the most of their chances. O. R. Caldwell, in the lead, as Duke de Bunkville showed why he has been rated the first actor in the class. His character work was careful and true. Beatrice Winder and Abe Schmulowitz, in their parts as proprietors of the tea garden, were spontaneous and clever. Mlle. Sarah Divina, as interpreted by Camille Purdy, was chic and charming. Her work was of a high order. Minnie Sisson was cast in a most difficult and illogical role, but made the most she could of the part under the circumstances. The cast for the farce was:

Bob Strong	A. B. SMITH
Tom Tyler	H. S. STEEN

The Football Show

IN KEEPING WITH THE PRECEDENT begun last year the annual Football Show was staged in Harmon Gymnasium on the night of the Big Game. After two years trial the success of the move transplanting this event to the college campus might seriously be questioned, for while the Glee Club was singing its inimitable drinking songs the bulk of the campus population was hieing itself across the bay to the metropolis.

The performance was presented before an audience of Berkeley citizens and empty sections reserved for the opposing varities. There was not the semblance of an "Oski," not the vestige of an egg or the familiar carrot-top. The audience was not one of excited, overjoyed collegians and the casual wanderer who looked in on his way by never imagined that the event was in honor of a football team that had brought honor and glory to the Blue and Gold on the gridiron that afternoon.

CAROL EBERTS AS HELENA IN
"HELENA'S HUSBAND"

The programme itself was a potpourri of choruses, character songs and sketches and musical numbers. Under the direction of Camille Purdy '18 an Oriental chorus gave a selection from "What Next," the Treble Clef Opera. The "Bell-hop Chorus" from "Keeping It Dark," B. M. Melvin '17 and E. P. Hyatt '18 in songs and sketches, ensemble numbers by the Glee Club, and banjo and saxophone numbers completed the bill. The show was managed by B. K. Vaughan '18.

The Mask and Dagger Plays "The Bear"

THE FIRST SUCCESS of the production of four one-act plays by the Mask and Dagger Society, March 17, 1917, was in the choice of plays. Comedy raised the curtain in "The Bear," Maeterlinck's "Interior" followed in the swift vein of tragedy; "The Maker of Dreams" gave us the sentimental so dear to our fancy, while "Helena's Husband" succeeded in satirizing not only its own but also all the preceding characters of the series. In such a manner, the group of plays became a unit.

"MAKER OF DREAMS"

"The Bear," played by Dorothy Wetmore '17, Paul Smith '17, and Orville Caldwell '18 came as a delightful surprise to an audience whose acquaintance with Russian literature and especially with Anton Chekoff, had tended to leave an impression of gloom. For two years Caldwell has done merited work in varied capacities but never before has his acting been so convincing or so finished. He had what is commonly supposed to be the impossible soliloquy, and proved how effective it may be made with good acting. He had what was perhaps more difficult, a twist of Slavic psychology to portray, a swift moment in which the "Bear" dives from towering rage to the depths of passionate love.

Miss Wetmore played the romantic woman, disguised in widow's weeds. The part did not allow her opportunity for vivid acting but she was acceptable in her straightaway work. P. D. Smith was pleasing in his role as the aged footman.

"The Interior"

Maeterlinck's "Interior," with its delicate symbolism, its absence of action, its weighty simplicity, was far more ambitious and doubly worthy of applause. Its theme is the mystery of life and death and its single important character begins to understand this mystery before our eyes. There are no high lights to portray, no splendid words to be said. Down to the curtain line the words were weighty with symbolism. The success of the play, therefore, was dependent on the acting in the part of The Old Man. Here again the long speech was even more dexterously handled with a fine knowledge of light and shade and the rising and falling tones of the voice. Beyond all the sureness of good technique displayed, the play convinced its audience, because of Ham's insight into The Old Man's discovery.

"The Maker of Dreams"

"The Maker of Dreams," although we seldom admit it, was just what a college audience likes. W. S. Rainey liked it too and so did Minnie

"THE MAKER OF DREAMS"
MINNIE SESSON AND BILL RAINEY

Sisson. Perhaps the secret of their acting lay there, and if this is true we cannot help wishing that Harold Black had liked it a little more.

"Oh, Baby don't cry for the moon, tra-la"—and so it went. Pierrette put on the kettle in vain, warmed his slippers in vain, darned—yes darned his socks in vain. Pierrot just wouldn't be nice. Until the Maker came, and Pierrette admitted that "Love did make a difference." Then of course they changed blind Pierrot, caused a twitching in his shoulder blades, made him suddenly fond of the fender, and Pierrette's darning and Pierrette herself.

Rainey fitted the part without flaw. He was wistful, whitefaced, disarmingly gay, as Pierrots must be. The play went faster when he came in and flagged a little when he whisked himself off. It flagged perceptibly when the Maker came on, contrary to the intention of the Maker's lines. Without him the play would have been flat.

Minnie Sisson was charming enough to be Pierrot's counterpart in black and white which is very charming indeed—but a little too sad, and a little too sweet. This was a play admirably suited to both Miss Sisson and Rainey, and they did it pleasing justice.

"Helena's Husband"

The last of the quartette of plays succeeded in spite of its impersonators. Carol Eberts as Helena had splendid lines and all the pictorial qualities, but her acting lacked the finest part of good satire and good acting. Helena was too well assured of her ways to convince others of it. Claire Tucker was a pleasing contrast as a vivid character. Her lines had the quality of bringing a laugh after them. Bill Rainey as Paris, lent the professional flavor to the satire. Earl Washburn as Analytikos brought down the curtain with applause. His clever actions really bordered on hilarity.

"The Canterbury Pilgrims"

He must indeed be a surly theatre-goer who would not unbend to the wit and light-hearted sunshine of a fair presentation of Mr. MacKaye's "Canterbury Pilgrims." A college audience, particularly, opens its heart willingly to a well-done portrayal of youth and love and good-fellowship, and Mr. MacKaye has that indefinable touch of the artist to impress on his character portraits these high-lights which make them so likeable.

The characters impress one as being made of the stuff of which men and women are made, without falsifying England's first poet-laureate or the day in which he lived and wrote. His "Wife of Bath," his "Chaucer" as they are here, are Mr. MacKaye's own but they fit miraculously into the honest picture of the One-Nine-Pin Inn and the land of Robin Hood.

"THE INTERIOR"

CAROL EBERTS AND CLAIRE TUCKER

Indeed, the entire pageant—for it is scarcely more than a pageant—drips with the honey of realism. The author has even thickened the plot with a slight seasoning of the prodigious coarseness of that age and he shows a master-stroke in the delicacy with which he handles the indelicacy necessary to the realist in a setting in Olde Merrie England. Thus we may set aside any calumniations against him on that score; with all his apparent caricature and hidden satire, perhaps, he does not libel Chaucer, nor does Chaucer libel him.

The Canterbury Pilgrims themselves are the real excuses for the play's being, especially Alisoun, the jolly wife of Bath, one of the most delightful stage folk that has played behind campus footlights during the year. Personality with originality, to say the least, registers in her every action. A hail-fellow well met, a maiden with the heart of a man, the very first tomboy of literature we might say, she has a dash and a go of it that cannot help but endear her to the most conservative. And then set in a delightful background such as marked the day of Dick-of-the-Lion's-Heart when miller and friar and poet reveled together at the inn, drinking good brown ale served by buxom tap-maids, singing the archer's songs of the gray goose feather and the true yew-tree, she appeals to an audience as a reflection of the more human or Mr. Hyde side, perhaps, of its inner nature.

SCENE FROM "THE CANTERBURY PILGRIMS"

It is in her principally that Mr. MacKaye has proved himself the artist; by a less sure hand this merry widow of five might easily be a creature of hearty good-will and fellowship, yet not measure up to the criterion of refinement, but even with the somewhat too-Chaucerian lines which are frequently hers, she never oversteps the bounds. ## "Youth's Adventure"

The Partheneia differs from other college dramatics in that the productions each year have been distinct contributions to creative California art, in literature, music and design. Sheldon Cheney, the author of "The New Movement in the Theatre," has referred to the Partheneia as "one of the few local expressions of dramatic enthusiasm that is deeply worth while. In originality of conception and in the actual achievement of visional beauty it stands well to the fore among American masques and pageants."

With the real purpose of the Partheneia thus in mind what shall be said of "Youth's Adventure" which was produced by the women of the university on April 13 in Faculty Glade?

The story of "Youth's Adventure" is of a young girl who dons knight's clothing and makes every effort to regain her father's sword which symbolizes the Ideal. As the action develops she not only wins the sword but also the love of a young knight.

The scene on the road to Camelot that formed the second episode was perhaps the most vulnerable point in the production. Beautiful in itself and serving well to make real the spirit of Arthurian days, nevertheless, it did not form an integral part of the masque as a whole. It did little to advance the action and as far as the dramatic construction was concerned might easily have been omitted. Its existence was justified, however, because it afforded a scene of shifting color, life and movement that was successful in producing that elusive quality called "atmosphere."

The music of "Youth's Adventure" deserves favorable comment. The use of adapted music which for a time was considered and would have been a backward step if carried out was happily averted through the efforts of Ruth Cornell and Sarah Unna '18. Their "The Dance of the Morning" and "The Dance of the Jewels," which was the finale, deserve special mention.

Dorothy Palmer '20, as "Beautiful Sin," the only solo dancing part this year, was a flame-colored sprite who flashed into the glade for a moment and then was gone.

Katherine Smith as Alisande, was charmingly youthful and loveable. The part of the young knight, Sagamore, was carefully interpreted by Ruth Jensen '19. Vera Morse '19 was a most haughty and disdainful enchantress. Doris McEntyre '17 was well suited to the part of Romance. Grace Ellis '20, as the ill-natured and malevolent dwarf, carried off a difficult part in a thoroughly satisfactory manner.

The production was ably coached by Porter Garnett, veteran of many previous productions.

"Youth Comes Up"

THE MOST DISCOURAGING ELEMENT about writing an extravaganza for the Class of 1917 was the obvious reflection that the preceding one, "Absent on Leave," set a high-water mark for all future ones. This year's authors developed a keen sympathy for those sons of famous men who support bravely a glorious but cumbrous heritage. And, after all, when ambitious Seniors have been writing extravaganzas since the Greek Theatre was Ben Weed's Amphitheatre, one feels that college life has been scrutinized to its far corners for every possible theme.

So the writers of "Youth Comes Up" grasped hungrily at the new type suggested in the 1916 extravaganza of Hazel Havermale and Roger Goss. What matter if their product did justify the remark of a Faculty member who still chuckles over the remembrance of Sam Hume naked in a barrel on the Greek Theatre stage? He said it was merely a Male Partheneia.

Of course a plot is not expected in an extravaganza. Artistically, however, this year's authors thought its inclusion in the show would be a rather interesting experiment. And so they slouched down before a fireplace and searched the flames for an appealing theme. It came—the delightfully original design of placing on a South Sea island a young woman who had never seen a man. It was a brilliant idea, and the authors saw visions of tropic maidens, soft music, starry skies, dense shrubbery, and all the rest of the theatrical staffage. They had gleams of a wonderful second act dominated by an enormous ruined idol and suffused with the glow of the Southern Cross and the glamour of youthful love. That was easy; the rest was the difficult part—the necessary mechanics of creating for the heroine a father and a mother and a lover. She was to be the daughter of two professors who had become estranged some score of years before—back in civilization. The mother has taken the child and founded a university for dissatisfied women on this island. During the intervening years the father professor has sat lonely, heartsick, patient, at home, longing, longing . . . . At this point the hero is created, obviously a student friend of the professor who is asked to find the daughter and bring her home. This is the method of bringing Him and Her together.

Bruce invented the characters, Love and Adventure, to clear out the channel and aid the course of true love; and Maslin created a devil-may-care character named Pocourante, to oppose Puppy Love with Passion, aided by his followers, Luck, Temptation, Satan and Crust. Here is the skeleton, not very carefully articulated, but strong enough to justify further progress. But the skeleton was put in the closet and forgotten for two months until one fine day, uncomfortably close to the date when manuscripts were to be submitted, he was dragged out and work started again.

Bruce did all the dialogue and put the flesh on the characters; Maslin wrote most of the songs. Bruce had a dictionary and Roget's Thesaurus; Maslin owned a volume of love poetry, Esenwein on versification, and a book of vers de société. Bruce was a conscientious word-artist; Maslin, an artisan, creating mosaic-poetry from anthologies.

Authors and Co-Authors

"Youth Comes Up"

By JOHN R. BRUCE and E. MARSHALL MASLIN

FOR THE THIRD CONSECUTIVE TIME the Senior Extravaganza has been the work of the editors of the Pelican and Occident as co-authors. This year's production, "Youth Comes Up," has for its authors J. R. Bruce, skipper of the Occident, and E. M. Maslin, who trims the feathers of the Pelican. Bruce admits to the dialogue and shaping of the play, while Maslin is responsible for the lyrics and ballads. The play takes its place among the greatest of extravaganzas ever submitted, in fact, so well has it been received that it has been copyrighted by the 1917 Class.

"Pin Pricks"

By EDWARD M. JAFFA and CAMILLE PURDY

It has often been said that the dark horse is usually the winning writer of the Junior Farce. This year there were two dark horses in the persons of E. M. Jaffa and Camille Purdy. By being the successful co-authors of the Junior Play these two writers make their initial appearance on the campus as dramatic producers. The farce was pleasing and well received by the Junior Class. Although not a masterpiece of modern playwriting it served its purpose and the authors are to be commended upon their work.

"The Trouble Track"

By LESLIE BROWN

Leslie Brown, the author of "The Trouble Track," the 1918 curtain raiser, won for herself an enviable reputation for dramatic writing from all critics. "The Trouble Track" was liked because it was not portentous and did not claim to be more than it was. It was simple, witty, original and enjoyable and is ranked among the top-notch curtain raisers of any previous Junior Day. Like the authors of the farce Miss Brown is new to dramatic writing and this production was her first to appear on the campus.

"What Next"

By I. B. KORNBLUM and H. E. KOWALSKY

It is a hard task for students to write a successful musical comedy, for the audience not only criticizes the airs and choruses but scrutinizes the originality of the production, the dialogue, the lyrics and the staging. When the production is pronounced a success, then, all the more credit is due to the authors. And "What Next" was voted worth while. The authors of this year's Treble Clef production were I. B. Kornblum '17 and H. E. Kowalsky '17. Kornblum wrote the music and Kowalsky contributed the lyrics. The book was written by E. S. Rosenblatt '18.

The Associated Students

WITH THE SETTLEMENT of the intercollegiate athletic relations, the final adoption of the new constitution and the placing of all athletic activities on a definite basis, the year 1916-1917 has run as smoothly as could be wished. No troublesome questions of a serious nature have arisen, such as the break in intercollegiate relations with Stanford or the changing to American football from the old Rugby game.

The first semester's test of the new constitution showed beyond a doubt its advantages over the old one. But one small defect has shown itself in its operation—this was concerning the election of the two mid-year members of the Executive Committee from the Junior Class. As adopted, the constitution provided simply for the election of two members of the Junior Class. But to avoid the possibility of the pooling of votes for one of the candidates and the election of the other on a minority vote, an amendment was proposed and carried providing that the two should be designated as "Candidate One" and "Candidate Two."

Another move which has proved its worth after a year of trial is the selling of A. S. U. C. cards for the whole year at $5.00 with a rebate of $2.50 to those who do not return in the spring semester. Card sales this year amounted to $4,214.00 with $712.50 refunded.

Executive Committee

As was the case with the Associated Student Body as a whole, the Executive Committee has found itself confronted with no problems of extreme difficulty. Practically the whole of its work has been the granting of dates, the hiring of coaches, and the general administration of the Student Body affairs.

Following the break in athletic relations with Stanford, more interest was taken in contests with other Pacific Coast universities. The result of this was the formation of the Pacific Coast Conference, composed of the University of Washington, Washington State College, the University of Oregon, Oregon Agriculture College, the University of California; and, after the Student Body had accepted the Freshman rule, Stanford University. The University of Southern California has also made application for admission to the Conference, and will probably be granted membership at the next meeting of the governing body of the Conference.

Among the most important minor changes was the institution of a uniform system of caring for the troublesome matter of class finances. To guard against the misuse of or unnecessary expenditure of class funds, it was proposed that each class treasurer work in conjunction with the graduate manager's office; that the books be always kept there for inspection; and that every expenditure be approved by that office before the money was actually paid out. In order to accomplish this, no check on a class fund was to be valid unless countersigned by the graduate manager or by his secretary. Any class might overrule a veto of this office by a majority vote, however. A charge of $12.50 per class per semester was to be levied for the payment of the extra clerical work involved. The plan was accepted by the Seniors and two lower classes in November, and by the Junior Class after the final Junior Day report had been rendered.

Beginning the fall semester of 1916, the publication of Brass Tacks was discontinued, it being evident that there was no need for such a publication on the campus.

Andrew Smith of Pennsylvania was hired as football coach for the spring and fall of 1916. At the close of the season a contract for three years further service as head coach was signed with him. A. B. Ziegler was hired to assist him for the year, and P. Elliott was chosen to coach the Freshman team. Contracts with Carl Shafor and Carl Zamloch were signed for the coaching of the soccer and baseball teams respectively. Ben Wallis, who voluntarily gave his services as crew coach in 1916 was retained, and a salary voted him for this year.

Much misunderstanding concerning the granting of letters and numerals has been cleared up by the adoption of definite rules covering practically every case which might arise.

Student Committees

Though routine work has composed the duty of nearly every student committee this year, one of the most active, and the one which produced probably the most far-reaching effects is the Students Union Committee.

Feeling increasingly the need of such an institution as a Students Union, the committee appointed last year spent its whole time in determining just what were the needs of the campus to be satisfied by the new building.

The committee this year has, using the work of the preceding body as a foundation, advanced the plans until a Students Union Building is now an assured proposition.

As planned, the first unit of the building will be placed between Harmon Gymnasium and Sather Gate. When the Gymnasium is removed, additions extending over the ground now occupied by it will be constructed. Provision is made for space in the building for the students' store, a cafeteria, the offices of the various campus publications, a dormitory at which visiting teams may stay, or where our own training table may be held, lounging rooms, A. W. S. rooms, banquet halls and accommodations for visiting alumni.

Sufficient funds for the commencement of the construction are now available; and it is planned to raise the rest on the outside, and, by extending the period of the debt over twenty-five years, to let the store and cafeteria pay off both the principal and interest.

Every organization on the campus has been touched in the publicity campaign of the committee, and every one is enthusiastic in its support of the plan. A modern Students Union therefore will be a reality in the very near future.

The Associated Women Students

THE ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS, formed in 1894 for the purpose of directing the activities in which the women primarily are interested, includes all women students who are members of the Associated Students of the University of California. All activities and interests of the women are controlled by the organization through its executive committee and the following affiliations: Prytanean, Sports and Pastimes Association, Treble Clef Society, Art History Circle, Iota Sigma Pi, Mandolin and Guitar Club, Delta Epsilon, Istye California Club, Women's "C" Society and Nu Sigma Si.

In addition to the supervision of all social and athletic events, the A. W. S. directs certain independent institutions for the women. A loan fund is maintained to provide emergency loans. The "Counter" provides sandwiches and chocolate. The Parthenia, an annual masque produced by the women, is given under the auspices of A. W. S.

For 1916-1917 the officers were: President, Leila Berry '17; Vice President, Bertha Galloway '17; Athletic Manager, Alberta McNeeley '17; Treasurer, Marian Brown '18; Secretary, Esther Sinclair '18.

The executive committee was composed of the officers of the association and the following: Dean of Women, Miss Lucy Ward Stebbins; Woman's Editor, Daily Californian, (August-December, '16); Representative A. S. U. C. Executive Committee, Anna Barrow '17; Woman's Editor Daily Californian (January-May, '17) Frances Brown; Parthenia Manager, Dorothy Wetmore '17; Representative A. S. U. C. Executive Committee (August-December, '16); Carol Eberts '17; Representative A. S. U. C. Executive Committee (January-May, '17), Vera Christie '18.

ALUMNI ORGANIZATIONS

Alumni Association

FOR THE CALIFORNIA ALUMNI ASSOCIATION the past year has been a period of intensive preparation. The management of the secretary's office has been reorganized, the publication of the association has been remodelled into the California Alumni Fortnightly, the active enrollment has been tripled, the fourth edition of the Directory of Graduates has been compiled, and a plan has been set in motion to replace the dormant alumni clubs with energetic units in the numerous centers throughout the country. The value of the preparation will be determined, naturally, as the individual purposes are carried to completion.

There is a total number of living alumni of 11,826. Of these at least 6,000 names should be actively enrolled in the association. In June, 1915, there were 1,302 members; in June, 1916, there were 2,905 enrolled.

A word on the present income of the association may have a bearing on the possibilities of the future. The collections are confined to a two-dollar yearly assessment, covering membership and subscription. A summary which shows, by a comparison of each month, the collections during the fiscal years since 1910-11, is noteworthy in several particulars. In 1910-11 the total income was $1,246; in the next year, $1,208; in 1912-13 it was $1,099; in the next, $1,232; in the last year, $1,546; and in the current year (to May 30) it was $4,624.18. In connection with this an interesting feature is the collections during the month of May, 1916. Between 1910 and 1915 the collections for the May month averaged $127. The total receipts for May, 1916, were $2,179.97.

The treasurer's report shows that the amount of the expenditures for the year has been exceptional. But the money, for the most part, has been put into permanent things. The effort in this direction has been aided materially through the generous financial co-operation of the Regents of the university. For the development of the association the Regents appropriated $3,000 in 1915-16, and have included in the 1916-17 budget a like amount.

A committee is at work on the proposal to establish an information and employment exchange in connection with the general offices of the association. This bureau, if the appropriate plans are devised, will be the medium through which the employers may reach the graduates as they leave the university and through which the graduates may be brought in touch with prospective occupations. The service which a bureau of this type will give is a service which the association must perform.

The Directory of Graduates, for which the compilation is complete, is the preparation for the district council plan. When all the graduates and the majority of the former students are accurately located the state-wide organization into local districts will be perfected. Each district is to have a council dependent on the central council, which meets every three weeks at the university. The district council scheme has been submitted to several localities and has been received with enthusiasm. The details of the plan are attractive and offer a solution to the problem that is ever-present in the administration of the local independent clubs. For example, San Joaquin County, San Diego County, Marin County, Solano County, and Los Angeles have been visited in the interest of the district scheme. When there is work to do there is active organization. The framework of organization is being built because there are great tasks ahead.

The custom for the Bay counties alumni to hold a Charter Day dinner was inaugurated last March, when 350 men and women were hosts to President Vincent, of Minnesota, the Charter Day speaker. The usual rally banquets were held on the eve of the Big Game. The women met in Berkeley; the men, numbering 320, dined in San Francisco. On Commencement Day the customary luncheon was given in Faculty Glade. Over 480 alumni were present. The policy for making the influence of alumni organization felt in the state at large brought out a plan to hold the 1916 annual meeting of the association at Kearney Park, the university estate in Fresno County, on June 3. A special Pullman train carried the Bay counties' delegation of 150 persons to the festivities, while a total of nearly 1,000 alumni registered at the park. The officers of the association for the year of 1916-17, elected at the annual meeting, are: President, Oscar Sutro '94; First Vice-President, W. E. Creed '98; Second Vice-President, S. M. Haskins '93; Secretary, Harvey Roney '15; Treasurer, R. F. Sproul '13. The Councilors are: Frank Otis '73, S. L. Rawlins '99, M. C. Lynch '06, C. E. Hall '10, Douglas Brookman '10, S. C. Irving '79, C. W. Merrill '91, W. H. Waste '91, Miss Margaret Hayne '08, and Mrs. Rose Gardner Marx '11. For the two places on the Board of Administration of the LeConte Memorial Fellowship, T. M. Putnam '97, vice W. E. Ritter, resigned, and F. P. Griffiths '06, vice C. S. Greene '86, whose term expired June 30, 1916, were elected. J. N. LeConte, whose term expired June 30, 1916, was re-elected.

... RELIGIOUS ... ORGANIZATIONS

The University Y. M. C. A.

THE PROGRAM of the University Young Men's Christian Association for the year has been built around a twofold purpose; namely, to meet the need existing in a state university for religious education, and to give practical expression to the spirit of service.

In the field of service the Freshman Class was welcomed at the beginning of the year; employment has been secured for more than three hundred students; and more than one thousand dollars raised for the support of the work of Roy Service '02, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in San Chuan Province, China.

The officers are: President, G. L. Maxwell '17; Vice-President, W. D. Norton '17; Recording Secretary, L. B. Sharp '17; Corresponding Secretary, K. I. Hanson '18; Treasurer, George Hjelt '17; Secretaries, B. M. Cherrington, E. L. Devendorf, H. C. Kingman, G. L. Collins '15 and Gail Cleland '07.

Y. M. C. A. CABINET

The University Y. W. C. A.

WITH AN INCREASED MEMBERSHIP of 530 as against 350 for last year, and with general progress showing up from all angles, the Young Women's Christian Association of the University of California finishes this year of its work with accomplishing great strides in the fundamental purpose of the organization. Under the leadership of Inura Wann '17, the Y. W. C. A. has been brought into closer touch with the real needs of such a body on the Campus, not only in the furthering of social interest, but also along the lines of bringing the girls of the university into more intimate and closer touch with each other.

Many new and original methods have been tried out by the Cabinet this last year with remarkable success. Chief among these were the institution of "Friendship Luncheons." So important did these luncheons become that it was found necessary to add a new member to the Cabinet for the sole purpose of handling them.

In order to bring the members into closer touch with the inner workings of the organization and to afford a sort of calendar of coming events a weekly paper called the Record has been printed. The editors for the past year have been Bernice Hubbard '18, and Algeline Marlow '17.

The officers for the year 1916-1917 were: President, Inura Wann '17; Vice-President, Freda Bayley '17; Treasurer, Louise Keen '18; Secretaries, Josephine Parks '19, Laurine Mattern '19, and Margaret Sherman; Annual Member, Margaret Marchant '17. For the 1917-1918 are: President, Marian Brown '18; Vice-President, Marion Peairs '18; Treasurer, Mary Lee '18; Secretaries, Pauline Whittlesley '20 and Margaret Sherman; Annual Member, Virginia Baldwin '18.

Christian Science Society of the U. of C.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE societies exist at the universities of California, Chicago, Columbia, Cornell, Harvard, Illinois, Leland Stanford Junior, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska and Wisconsin, and at Simmons, Smith, and Wellesley colleges. The Manual of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, authorizes members of the Faculty and students, who are members in good standing with The Mother Church, to establish and conduct Christian Science organizations in universities and colleges where religious organizations are permitted. Under this provision Christian Science Society of the University of California was organized in 1907.

The society holds meetings on the first Tuesday evening after registration, and on alternate Tuesdays thereafter during the regular and summer sessions of the university. Selections from the Bible are read, followed by correlative passages from the Christian Science text-book, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. Experiences, testimonies of healing and remarks on Christian Science are also given.

Authorized lectures are delivered by members of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church. The purpose of these lectures is to present a clear, definite statement of Christian Science, and to correct prevalent misconceptions concerning its teaching, and the life and works of its discoverer and founder, Mary Baker Eddy.

A reception is held in the fall to welcome those interested in Christian Science, and to explain the purpose of the organization.

In the Doe Library are found all the works of Mrs. Eddy, with the concordances thereto, translations in German, with parallel pages in English, of "Science and Health," and the authentic "Life of Mary Baker Eddy" by Sibyl Wilbur. The Periodical Room contains the Christian Science Journal, the official organ of The Mother Church; the Christian Science Sentinel, a weekly; the Christian Science Quarterly Bible Lessons, Der Herold der Christian Science and the Christian Science Monitor. The Journal, Sentinel and Der Herold always contain signed testimonies of healing. Authorized literature on Christian Science is also available to students in the Free Reading Room in the Berkeley Bank Building, maintained by the Churches of Christ, Scientist, of Berkeley.

The purpose of the society is to afford all in the university who so desire, an opportunity to gain an understanding of Christian Science as taught in the Christian Science text-book. Members of the Faculty and students, of present and former classes of this university, are invited to these testimonial meetings, receptions and lectures.

The Newman Club

During the year the Newman Club has enlarged its activities to keep pace with the growth of the university.

In addition to the courses in scripture and ethics given by Rev. Thomas Lantry O'Neill, Ph. D. and Rev. Clarence E. Woodman, Ph. D., who have charge of the religious work for Catholic students of the university, the club has offered, this year, a course in scholastic philosophy by Dr. Charles R. Baschab.

Though the primary purpose of the association is to secure for Catholic students opportunities for religious instruction and worship, it contributes to the social and intellectual life of the university by the many public lectures, receptions, and entertainments given under its auspices.

The lectures and other activities are held in Newman Hall, a large, well-appointed, English gothic building situated on the north side of the university campus near Founders' Rock Entrance, at the corner of Ridge Road and La Loma Avenue. It contains a chapel, reading room, library, and recreation rooms.

OFFICERS: President, Dwight E. Eveleth '16; First Vice-President, Allan Peter Lindsay '18; Second Vice-President, Alice A. Griffin, '17; Corresponding Secretary, Flora M. Wilson, '17; Recording Secretary, Rebecca Borradaile '18; Treasurer (Fall Semester), William F. Carroll '18; (Spring Semester), Charles E. Rhein '17.

HEADS OF STANDING COMMITTEES—Executive, Nicholas J. Scorsus '17; Social, Katherine F. Quinn '17; Women's Membership, Madeline A. Muldoon, '18; Men's Membership, Mervyn T. Prindiville '19, and William V. Goin '19.

St. Mark's Club

THE ST. MARK'S CLUB affords Episcopal students in the university an opportunity of meeting together for discussions of religious activity, hearing talks by members of the Faculty, or for social recreation. Its members meet each Sunday evening at the St. Mark's Parish House.

In addition to the regular weekly meetings the organization has charge of the Sunday school of St. Mark's Church. Boys' clubs, gymnasium classes and other forms of social service work are conducted by the club in West Berkeley. Various other kinds of service are undertaken by the club during the year with the idea of supplying the less fortunate people of the Bay region with the necessities of life.

The officers of the club for the Fall Semester were: President, John Lawton '17; First Vice-President, E. W. Jacobsen '17; Second Vice-President, Marion Underwood '18; Secretary, Margaret Lawton '19; Treasurer, Bruce Jameyson '17. For the Spring Semester they were: President, E. W. Jacobsen '17; First Vice-President, Marion L. Underwood '18; Second Vice-President, Margaret Lawton '19; Secretary, Dorothy Lilly '19; Treasurer, R. H. Young '19.

CAPTAIN-ELECT BROOKS

Preliminary Season

EIGHTY-FIVE CANDIDATES for the California Varsity football team reported for the season of 1916 when Coach Andy Smith sounded the first call on September 1. While the majority of the men had one year's experience in the American game, they were still lacking in a knowledge of the essential rudiments of the code and were devoid of that "football instinct" which comes to players only after years of long and patient practice. So the task that confronted the coaching staff at the beginning of the season was to first ground the recruits in the fundamentals of the American game and then teach the Varsity squad technical and scientific football and the intricate and complicated plays.

California entered the season better equipped in the coaching department than ever before. From all parts of the East the best coaches had been gathered during the summer to whip the Varsity into shape. Andy Smith, former head coach at Purdue, had been selected the previous spring to take charge of the California Varsity. With his colleague, Pete Vaughn

also of Purdue, he held spring practice and drilled a squad of sixty men in tackling and blocking. But when the season opened in the fall Vaughn was on the Mexican border as a lieutenant in the Illinois National Guard, and A. B. Ziegler, line coach at Pennsylvania State, was selected to take charge of the linemen. Ziegler was for four years a Varsity lineman and the last two years of his undergraduate days he was chosen as All-American guard. Eddie Mahan, captain of the Harvard eleven in 1915 and All-American fullback for four years, was chosen as backfield coach. Ben Cherrington, former University of Nebraska player, was appointed to coach the Reserves.

Coach Smith laid out a strenuous campaign of work for the squad. He was found to be a tireless worker, an exacting master and a man of system. He insisted that no football play was perfect until every man in the opposition was accounted for and unless he had a man on his own team who was always free to dispose of a loose opponent.

A great deal of new equipment was purchased and many improvements made on California Field for the convenience of the squad. Two gridirons were laid out and three tackling dummies put up. The season's work started with practice in tackling the dummy and in blocking. The linemen and the backs were immediately segregated and put in charge of Ziegler and Mahan, while Coach Smith took general oversight of the entire squad.

After a week of preliminary training to work the soreness out of their muscles, the squad was divided into Varsity and Reserves and a number of scrimmages were held between these two teams before the Varsity was given competition by an outside eleven. Never before in the history of football at California had a squad been worked so hard. Every afternoon from 4 o'clock until 7 o'clock the coaches drilled the men. California Field was lighted with seventeen large incandescent lamps, which made it possible to practice long after sundown with the whitewashed "ghost ball."

The Varsity went on the training table on October 7, six weeks before the Washington game—the longest training table period in the history of athletics in the university. From a large number of fraternity and club houses offered, the Zeta Psi and Phi Gamma Delta houses were chosen. The first three weeks were spent at the Zeta Psi house and the remainder of the season at Phi Gamma Delta.

Coach Smith had advised the long period on the training table in order to have an opportunity to keep the men together for the purpose of teaching them scientific football. The task of keeping the men from going stale under the strain of the long season was a hard one. Numerous remedies were tried for this. Sudden changes in schedule were sprung and entertainers were brought in after dinner. One afternoon the entire squad was loaded into a "rubber-neck" touring car and taken to a suburban lot near Richmond where they held signal practice.

The schedule for the season marked a new era in California's athletic relations. Besides the usual games with the athletic club teams from Oakland and San Francisco, three new teams—Oregon, Whittier and Occidental—were pitted against the Varsity for the first time. Eleven games were played during the season. Six were won, four lost and one tied. Of the nine games played during the preliminary season California won seven and lost two. In only one, the Oregon defeat, was California outplayed, as the Occidental game was lost at the last minute through carelessness and poor field generalship.

The season was opened on September 16 with a victory over the Olympic Club eleven by a score of 23 to 0. The minute the ball was snapped from center to the quarterback for the first time, it was apparent that the Varsity was one hundred per cent better than last season. Coach Smith did not have his men use any fancy football. It was plain, determined line plunging that won the game. Brooks made two touchdowns and Wells one, Montgomery kicking two of the goals. Graf made one field goal. The poor condition of the club men aided the Varsity in piling up a big score.

The following week the Oakland Originals were defeated by a score of 23 to 0. The Varsity showed a big improvement in line smashing and in handling the forward double pass successfully. In the first quarter Montgomery scored three points by a field goal. No scores were made in the second quarter, but in the third Brooks and Sharp each went across the line. Montgomery kicked one of the goals. The last touchdown was made by Wells in the fourth quarter.

On September 30 the Olympic Club players staged a come-back while the Varsity took a slump and neither team was able to score a single point. A wet and muddy field precluded the possibility of any open field play and straight football of necessity predominated. As a result punting was resorted to quite frequently, Brooks

In the final contest against a club team the Varsity defeated the Oakland Originals, on October 7, by a score of 13 to 0. Sharp was the stellar performer of the day, making both touchdowns and several long runs. One of the most spectacular plays seen during the preliminary season was when Sharp received a kick-off on California's fifteen-yard line and ran eighty-three yards through a broken field, being downed only on the two-yard line. Both touchdowns were made the first quarter. Montgomery kicked one of the goals.

Whittier opened the college season against the Varsity in the most sensational pre-season game seen on California Field. The brilliant forward passing of the visitors and the dogged, determined play of the Blue and Gold featured the game. Whittier scored eleven points on a field goal and a touchdown in the first half. Touchdowns were made for California by Wells and Foster. Montgomery kicking both goals. A fifty-yard run gave Whittier another touchdown in the second half.

California was on the short end of the score until three minutes before the end of the game when Fred Brooks intercepted a forward pass and ran twenty-five yards to a touchdown. Montgomery kicked the goal and changed a 17 to 14 defeat into a 21 to 17 victory.

California 14 Oregon 39

The Varsity suffered its first defeat of the season on October 21 at the hands of the veteran University of Oregon eleven by a score of 39 to 14. Oregon played its shifting, smashing game, while California relied on short, snappy forward passes and trick plays to gain ground. It was the first time during the season that California had been pitted against an experienced eleven. The Varsity showed its real strength and played the best game of the season to date, but was beaten by a more experienced and better team.

California made its second touchdown in the fourth quarter. Oregon was penalized thirty yards, which put the ball on its one-yard line. From there Wells bucked it over and Montgomery kicked the goal.

California 13 Occidental 14

Costly errors in generalship and loose play on the part of the Varsity lost the second successive game to Occidental College by a score of 14 to 13. Forward passes and line bucks by Brooks, Foster and Sharp resulted in a touchdown for California the first quarter. Gimbal dropped the kickoff from Sharp and the opportunity to try for the goal was lost. Occidental down. In the second quarter Brooks scored another touchdown and Montgomery kicked the goal. Then California's heretofore invincible line crumbled and the visitors marched the entire length of the field to the one-yard line. California fought desperately, but on the fourth down the ball was over and a few seconds later the goal was kicked that won the game.

This defeat undoubtedly did the California players more good than if they had won, for it taught them the consequences of carelessness and how easily a victory may be turned into defeat.

California 27 U. S. C. 0

The Varsity showed its true form in the next game when it hammered the University of Southern California eleven into submission by a score of 27 to 0 on the Los Angeles gridiron. California was slow to get started, the first half ending without a score; but in the second half the Blue and Gold opened with a terrific attack, scoring one touchdown in the third quarter and three in the fourth. Foster bucked the ball over the first time, and Sharp, Wells and Maguire followed in succession. Montgomery kicked three out of the four goals. Captain Montgomery responded in fine form.

California 48 St. Mary's 6

In the last preliminary game of the season the Varsity defeated St. Mary's by a score of 48 to 6. After the first half only second-string men were used by Coach Smith. The Oakland collegians were helpless and the Blue and Gold scored almost at will.

California unloosed a variety of plays which completely bewildered the inexperienced St. Mary's players. It was distinctly a practice game, the Varsity running through its signals with a finished speed and precision. The "end around" runs of Cohen who came out of the line and took the ball from the quarter, were the features of the game. In the first quarter touchdowns were made by Cohen and Brooks, Montgomery kicking both goals. Another touchdown

In the final quarter Foster made one touchdown, Montgomery kicking the goal and Graf made another, Wells kicking the goal. Olsen scored St. Mary's only points in the same period.

First Washington Game

A sun of burnished gold sinking before the bronzed Berkeley hills cast a purple glow over California Field. The shimmering green carpet, gridironed with white battle-scarred bars where the sons of Washington and California had just ended their struggle for glory and the upholding of collegiate tradition, caressed the serried ranks of some sixteen thousand standing spectators massed in the great bleachers reaching up on the big black scoreboard at the south end of the picture where hung the figures, Washington 13, California 3. There never was a brighter, snappier, more ideal football day. Fleecy, white clouds scudded overhead, while an autumn sun took just enough chill out of the air to make wraps unnecessary. And it was one of the greatest Big Games that ever thrilled the red heart of fan.

From the drab and unemotional affair of the year before it emerged with all its radiance to twang the throat till the heart tightened and send the ripples and quivers down one's spine. The spirit, the glamour, the clutch returned with all its vigor and held the crowd with gripping uncertainty till the very end.

MONLUX—GUARD

And grim was the battle and great were the feats thereof! During the entire contest the Blue and Gold rooting section was hopeful that Washington's string of victories would be broken. But with the lowering sun a shadow crept across the field from the Washington side on the west. It was a portentous shadow, and, as with the succeeding periods of play, it moved slowly but surely toward the eastern side, hope died in the hearts of the Californians massed there, and the Purple flush of victory mounted higher and higher.

But it was not until the final gun that the Varsity or the rooters gave up hope, for California always had a chance to win. It was an even struggle, far more evenly disputed than the 13 to 3 score would indicate. The Varsity waged a bitter fight before it conceded victory to the visitors. The men played with every ounce of energy they possessed and bowed only to Experience as their master.

Washington played straight, hard football, and attempted only one forward pass. On the other hand California made its gains on sensational forward passes and a great variety of trick plays, which brought the bleachers to their feet time and again. The Varsity's defense was a revelation. A new formation, which brought the backs in the form of a hollow square directly behind the first line of defense, proved to be a severe stumbling block for the smashing Northmen. Washington's line held slightly better than did California's. On the other hand, Brooks had the edge on Morrison in punting. Washington scored two touchdowns from one of which a goal was kicked. California made its points from a field goal kicked from a difficult angle by Captain Montgomery.

It was 2:33 o'clock when the game started. Washington won the toss and chose to defend the south goal. Fred Brooks adjusted the ball on the little mound in the middle of the field, stepped back and waited. Captain Montgomery and Captain Seagrave answered referee Varnell's call of "ready," the Blue and Gold charged down the field under Brooks' long, high kick, and the game was on. Hainsworth took the ball on his own ten-yard line and ran it back to California's twenty-five yard line. It was Washington's ball.

Then came the tensest moment of the game. Johnson, the Purple and Gold quarter, spoke a few words to his backs and then began to snap the signals. Could the California line hold? The question was in the mind of every spectator who remembered the 72 to 0 score of the year before when Washington never failed to make its yards. The teams lined up: the ball was snapped from center directly into the waiting hands of "Cy" Noble, veteran of four seasons and kingpin of the Washington team. The six-foot-three of bone and sinew hurled himself against right tackle. Not an inch was gained. The line held!

Twice more did the smashing Washington backs try to make gains, and when on the third down the ball was still on the twenty-five-yard line Morrison was forced to punt.

California's first play was an attempted forward pass which failed. A punting duel followed, and then a penalty gave California the ball on Washington's thirty-yard line. The Blue and Gold started its real attack. Sharp caught a beautiful forward pass from Brooks and carried the ball to Washington's twenty-yard line. A second forward pass thrown by Sharp was missed by Brooks because the sun was in his eyes, and it cost California a touchdown for there was no one between Brooks and the goal line, five yards distant. It was California's quarter at the beginning but Washington's at the end. Unable to make yards, Brooks kicked and then Johnson skirted California's left end for thirty-seven yards, which put the ball on California's ten-yard line. A series of bucks, and Murphy was forced over for the first score. Faulek failed to kick the goal.

The second period was only five minutes old when California scored. With the ball on his own twenty-yard line Johnson punted to Sharp on the second down. Brooks and Foster gained five yards on bucks through center. Then Hicks called for a forward pass. Brooks passed the ball to Montgomery who was far out at the right and the captain made twenty-two yards before he was stopped. Sharp was then called upon and he wriggled through a cloud of interference for twenty yards. The ball stopped at the ten-yard line, well out to the side. A touchdown would have tied the score. Two forward passes failed and Hicks knew better than to try the Washington line in such a crucial position. Then Sharp flattened himself out on the ground. Montgomery stepped back and measured the distance with his eye. Was it possible to kick a goal from such an angle? It was a long chance. Russell shot the ball out from center. Montgomery swung and the ball slipped through the goal posts for California's only points. The half ended with the score 6 to 3.

An uncanny quirk in luck in the way of a blocked kick in the third quarter, paved the way for Washington's second touchdown. Neither

FIRST BIG GAME—WASHINGTON HALF-BACK BREAKING THRU DEFENSE

SECOND BIG GAME—SHARP TACKLING MORRISON

In the interval between the two Big Games the California coaches built up the weak side of the line and new plays were learned, while Washington went through a stormy week of controversy when the players threatened to call the game off after the Faculty disqualified one of the Varsity. As a result the Blue and Gold went North for the Thanksgiving Day game, confident that they could break the Purple and Gold's nine years of consecutive victories.

If the first game was hard fought, the second was harder; if the first was sensational, the second was more so. Every yard gained was the result of gruelling battle and desperate struggle. California went against the Northmen with a feeling of confidence. The line held as it never held before; the backs were swift and sure, but that inexperience that dogged them throughout the season coupled with the fate that guards the uncanny Dobie lost the second game, 14 to 7.

In the first five minutes California had Washington on the defensive and battling desperately to prevent a score. Following the kick-off by California, Washington was unable to make its yards and Morrison kicked to Hicks in midfield. California's heady little quarter made a fair catch and prepared for a kick. But instead of sending a long punt he booted a short onside kick, which Wells caught on Washington's thirty-yard line. A forward pass, Brooks to Montgomery, gained ten yards and a buck by Wells three more. But on the new play Johnson intercepted a forward pass on his own five-yard line and prevented a score. Throughout the remainder of the period the play was constantly in the vicinity of Washington's thirty-yard line but the Northmen fought desperately and California was unable to get closer.

In the second quarter Washington made its yards for the first time. A series of line bucks brought the ball to California's twenty-five yard line. Here Faulek tried for a goal but missed. During the entire quarter the ball was in the Varsity's territory but Washington was held at a safe distance from the goal line. Thus, California's dashing, overhead play of the first quarter was offset by the smashing line plunging of the Washington backs in the second, and the half ended with the score 0 to 0 and anybody's game.

Shortly after the second half opened Brooks and Noble had a collision and for the first time in his collegiate football career the Blue and Gold star had to be removed from the game. Brooks' loss was a severe blow to California's chances as he was the kingpin of the backfield. Besides doing the kicking and passing for the team he was a tower of strength on the secondary defense. Washington had already started its plunging tactics. Hainsworth, Noble and Murphy carried the ball to California's twenty-five yard line. Johnson took the ball on the next play, and after wriggling through the line, ran twenty-five yards for a touchdown. Faulek kicked the goal and the score was, Washington 7, California 0.

An intercepted forward pass on California's forty-yard line shortly after the opening of the final period, which was carried by Briggs to California's twenty-yard line, gave Washington its chance for the second score. The ball was worked to the seven-yard line by bucks and then a forward pass, Noble to Faulek, scored a touchdown. Faulek kicked the goal making the score 14 to 0.

The game was over. California had made two unsuccessful attempts to fall the mighty Dobie, but the memory of that spirit which lived through the just ended season will live forever in the hearts of loyal Californians.

Freshman Football

One week after the Varsity started practice, one hundred and fourteen Freshmen reported to Pat Elliott, former University of Chicago star, to vie for places on the baby eleven. One week later Elliott made a cut in the squad so he might concentrate his instructions upon fewer men.

Of the nine games played during the season the Freshmen lost but two and played one tie. They piled up a total of 257 points against 25 for their opponents.

BIG FRESHMAN GAME—TALBOT MAKES FIRST TOUCHDOWN

The big game for the baby team was played on November 4th, against the University of Southern California Freshmen. The Blue and Gold first year men won by a score of 21 to 6. The game was played in a heavy rain which made the field and ball slippery and slowed the play considerably.

Toomey and Stebbins were the stars for the Freshmen, the former making two of the three touchdowns and converting all three of them.

The Reserves

Following out Andy Smith's suggestion the 1915 Goofs became the Reserves in 1916, and under the coaching of Ben Cherrington had a very successful season. This team, composed of men who as yet did not have experience enough for Varsity places, gave invaluable service toward perfecting the first team.

There are two fundamental ideas behind the Reserve system. The first is the development of men for the Varsity team and the second is to give the Varsity opposition in scrimmage practice. It was the task of the Reserves to work up the different styles of offense used by Oregon, Washington, and U. S. C., in order that the Varsity might be prepared to meet the attacks.

Hansen, Shaw and McCullough were "graduated" from the Reserves to the Varsity squad soon after the season started, having shown that they were promising Varsity material.

Those who made up the Reserves and stayed out the entire season with Coach Cherrington are: Nudd, Coulson, Alford, Bradley, Brown, Chambers, Dahlem, Easton, Enderly, Hansen, Hill, Huston, McCullough, Miller, Moses, Pennycook, Price, Shaw, Shultz, Slater, Snook, Spear, Weeks and Young.

Interclass Football

In a series that took four games to decide the winner, the Sophomores annexed the interclass football title for the season of 1916, by victories over the teams entered from the Junior and Freshman classes.

The series proved the worth of the annual interclass contests. As exhibitions of the American game they ranked with the best of the preliminary season and exceeded all in point of interest. At each game the contesting classes organized rooting sections. Each team had a coach and spent several days preparing for the contests before they took the field.

In the first match the Seniors and Juniors battled to a scoreless tie. While the Juniors had the advantage in practically all stages of the game, the fourth year men showed ability to hold the line at critical times and thus prevented a score. The second time the two teams met the Juniors won a closely contested game by a score of 7 to 6. Shaw's long punts featured this contest.

The Sophomores nosed out the Freshmen in the last minute of play when Skin Brewer booted a field goal, giving his team a victory by a score of 3 to 0.

This qualified the Sophomores to meet the Juniors for the championship. In the final game the 1919 men won a decisive 13 to 0 victory over the third year eleven. Symes of the 1919 team was the individual star, scoring both touchdowns. Jones kicked one of the goals.

Varsity Season

THE VARSITY BASKETBALL TEAM made the best record in the history of the sport at California during the 1916-1917 season. It won fifteen out of the sixteen games played, taking the annual series from Stanford in two straight games, tying for the championship of the Pacific Coast Conference with Washington State College and piling up a total of 697 points against 304 for its opponents. The only defeat was suffered at the hands of the Washington State five, the score of 32 to 29 being the closest of the season.

The Varsity squad reported for practice immediately after the close of the football season in late November. Ben Cherrington was named as coach. During the Christmas vacation the team toured the southern part of the state, winning games from San Jose Y. M. C. A., Asilomar All-Stars, Watsonville, Los Angeles Y. M. C. A., Los Angeles Athletic Club, Long Beach Y. M. C. A., Whittier and the University of Southern California. After the spring semester opened, the Berkeley high school team was defeated in the first practice game, and then the college season was opened on the new Harmon Gymnasium court with a victory 42 to 18 over the University of Southern California five.

The Pacific Coast Conference season started with the Washington State College quintet, which opposed the Varsity on February 2 and 3. Both contests were hard fought, the speed and aggressiveness of the California players being pitted against the accurate long distance basket shooting of the visitors. The Blue and Gold team won the first game, 28 to 20, but lost the second 32 to 29.

California had to win both games with the Oregon Agricultural College to tie with Washington State for the conference title. The first game was played on September 20 and resulted in a 28 to 24 victory for California after an additional five minutes had been played to determine the result. At the end of the second half the score was 24 all but in the five minute period Hjelte scored two field baskets which gave California the game. California won the second game, 20 to 11. The first half ended with the score 5 to 4 in favor of the Varsity.

The first game against Stanford was played on the Harmon Gymnasium court on February 11 and resulted in a win for California, 20 to 14.

The second game was played on February 15 at Stanford and the Blue and Gold again triumphed over the Cardinal, this time, 29 to 20. Neither of the games were as fast as the other conference contests, due mainly to the fact that both teams adopted strong defensive tactics.

Following are the individual scores for the conference games:

Field goals—Hjelte 22, Embury 14, Sharp (captain) 10, Flodberg 7, Spencer 4, Sandner 4, Works 3. Free goals from foul—Sharp 17 out of 27, Sandner 9 out of 13.

Interclass Basketball

THE ANNUAL INTERCLASS BASKETBALL SERIES, which was held in December, was won by the Junior team when they defeated the Seniors 23 to 13 in the final game of the tournament. Six games were played in three days in the series. The Seniors defeated the Sophomores, the Juniors won from the Freshmen, the Juniors from the Sophomores, the Freshmen from the Seniors, the Sophomores from the Freshmen, and the Juniors from the Seniors. These games resulted in a total of three victories for the Juniors and one victory and two defeats for each of the other three classes.

The Junior team was composed of: Zolot and Newlands, forwards; Gibbons, center; Salmina and Bourne, guards.

The Reserves

THE SECOND STRING VARSITY MEN constituted the Reserve team. Besides affording competition for the Varsity five the Reserves were entered in the California-Nevada league and played a number of games. In practice games they defeated the Berkeley High School, 44 to 11, and the Davis State Farm team, 32 to 28. They won from the College of Pacific, 49 to 10; from St. Ignatius, 40 to 25, and from the University of Nevada, 53 to 23.

The men who played with the Reserves are: Forwards: Spencer, Munro, Sangmaster, Flodberg, Middough. Center: Works and Symes (captain). Guards: Rugh, Anderson, R. Rohwer and Brooks.

The Freshman Season

OUT OF A SQUAD OF MADIOCRE PLAYERS Coach W. D. Norton '17 succeeded in developing a Freshman team that won the annual series against the Stanford first-year men. Out of the ten games played during the season six were won and four lost. The final line-up was: Forwards, Toomey and Beresford; center, Greene; guards, Paret and Grul.

The Preliminary Season

BECAUSE OF AN EXCEPTIONALLY DRY SPRING the baseball season of 1917 started fully two weeks earlier than usual, a squad of thirty players reporting to Coach Carl Zamloch for first practice on January 22. With nine veterans of the previous year, including Captain Adair, who was kept out of the Stanford series in 1916 with a broken ankle, prospects to repeat the victories of the past three years against Stanford were exceedingly bright.

Only two places on the team had to be filled. Gimbal, who had caught in the Oregon games, took his place behind the bat and Hudson the other new man was put on second, Claude Rowher being shifted to the vacancy at short.

More preliminary games were played than ever before, the Varsity averaging three a week. Most of them were with the semi-professional teams around the Bay, but St. Mary's, the Olympic Club and Oakland Coast League teams were also included. Of the seventeen games played before the first contest with Stanford, California won nine, lost seven and tied one.

Instead of the usual three-game series with Stanford it was arranged to have a five-game series, the first team to annex three games to be declared the winner.

It was thought that by this means there would be no shadow of a doubt as to which university had the better team. In previous years the two nines had been very evenly matched with one run deciding the first two games, each side having one game to its credit, and the final game being won after a fourteenth inning rally, and the series going to the lucky team. "Baseball luck" could therefore decide the fate of the series and it was thought a good plan to do away with the possibility of having any such thing occur again.

HEAD COACH ZAMLOCH

First Stanford Game

THE "INSIDE BASEBALL," which had been drilled into them by Coach Carl Zamloch coupled with the ability of the Varsity to lay down bunts in the pinch, and Ray Rohwer's terrific hitting won the first of the five-game series, which was played on the Stanford diamond on March 24.

With the score standing 2 to 1 against California, Ray Rohwer started a ninth inning rally with a smashing three-bagger to right field. Works went out, but Starbird laid down a perfect bunt and Rohwer slid across the plate with the run that tied the game, and paved the way for the victory in the tenth.

In that inning Hudson walked and Dimock was safe on an error. Morse sacrificed both runners—Hudson squeezed in from third when Adair bunted, reaching first safely. Claude Rohwer went out and Ray Rohwer scored Dimock and Adair on a single.

Second Stanford Game

Facing Mattei and Draper as nonchalantly as if they were merely second rate pitchers of a practice outfit and swatting them accordingly, the Varsity won the second game of the series played on California Field on March 31 with conspicuous ease by a score of 16 to 2. With one exception it was the largest score ever registered in a game between the two universities.

The victory was as clean-cut as the size of the score was surprising. The bombardment started in the first inning and did not end until the last man was out in the ninth. California registered a home run, a three-bagger, a brace of doubles and numerous singles. The dejection of the Cardinal was intensified by seven errors, while Dimock's foxy flinging allowed them but four scattered hits. California ran wild on the bases, Works even stealing home.

Varsity vs. University of Southern California

FRESH FROM THEIR 16 to 2 VICTORY over Stanford, the Varsity again reached the high water mark on April 3, when the University of Southern California Law School was defeated by a score of 16 to 4 on California Field. The California hitters started in the first inning when they knocked Schmitz, the southern pitcher, from the box, and forced six runs across the plate.

The Varsity made runs at regular intervals, foring Spiess, the second pitcher, from the box in the seventh. The day before U. S. C. defeated the second Varsity with Ball in the box by a score of 3 to 1.

Third Stanford Game

STANFORD STAGED A come-back the following Saturday and defeated California on the Palo Alto diamond by a score of 3 to 1. Hoefer, on the mound for the Cardinal, pitched a great game, allowing the Blue and Gold but three scattered hits. McCabe hurled for California and was touched for seven safeties. The Varsity played errorless ball for the third straight game.

Stanford scored in the first inning when Mitchell was given a life on a passed ball and scored on Shriver's triple. In the second frame Campbell singled, stole second and scored on Cowan's hit to left. California made its run in the fourth when Starbird walked, stole second and scored on Gimbal's double. The Cardinal scored again in the eighth when Shriver walked and scored on Hayes' three-bagger.

Fourth Stanford Game

WITH DIMOCK on the mound pitching no-hit, no-run ball California took the fourth and deciding game of the series played on California Field, April 14, by a score of 4 to 0.

The Blue and Gold won the game in the second inning. Ray Rohwer started the fun with a two-bagger, Works singled, and both scored on Veeki's two-cushion swat. Veeki scored when Cowan let Smith's grounder go between his legs. The final tally came in the seventh when Claude Rohwer singled, stole second, went to third on Ray Rohwer's bunt and scored while the Stanford infielders were trying to catch his brother between first and second.

Captain Adair and second baseman Hudson were both confined in the Infirmary with measles and unable to be in the game.

Freshman Baseball

IT WAS AN EXCEPTIONALLY successful year for the Freshman baseball team. The team won fifteen out of its eighteen preliminary games against the high schools and clubs around the Bay and then took the annual series from the Stanford 1920 men in two straight games. Harold Dexter, who had played consistent ball both in right field and behind the bat was chosen captain.

In the first Stanford game, played at Palo Alto, on March 31, the Freshmen won, 4 to 0. McClain pitched a remarkable game, allowing but one hit. California scored three runs in the third and one in the ninth. The game was played in a drizzling rain.

The second Stanford game, played on California Field, April 6, was close. It was not until the ninth inning that California changed a 4 to 3 score into a 5 to 4 victory. Two walks, an error by Stanford's third-sacker and a sacrifice fly by Dexter brought in the winning run. Ellison pitched the first five innings and McClain four.

The Freshman line-up for the Stanford games was: Crystal, r. f.; Hyman, c. f.; Dexter, l. f.; Davidson, ss.; Tooney, c.; Stephens, 1b.; Welch, 2b.; Luddy, 3b.; Orichson, r. f.; McClain and Ellison, p.

Pacific Coast Championship Series

FOR THE FIRST TIME since 1912 California played for and won the championship of the Pacific Coast in intercollegiate baseball following the Stanford series in the spring of 1916. The Oregon Agricultural nine, champions of the Northwest were brought to Berkeley and defeated in a three-game series by scores of 5 to 2, 10 to 3 and 9 to 0. The games were played on California Field. The Blue and Gold out-classed the visitors in every department of the game, hitting the Oregon pitchers hard and running wild on the bases. Holmes, McCabe and Dimock worked for California in the order named.

P. A. A. Meet

CALIFORNIA WON THE ANNUAL P. A. A. track and field meet held on California Oval, April 22, 1916, with a score of 89 points, 28 points ahead of Stanford, her closest competitor. The Olympic Club finished third with 31 points, the Caledonian Club fourth with 10, Visitation Valley fifth with 5, while an unattached entry captured sixth place with three points.

One world's record was equalled and two new P. A. A. marks set up. Fred Murray, of Stanford tied Fred Kelly's and Forrest Smithson's record of 15 flat for the high hurdles. "Skin" Wilson of Stanford set a new P. A. A. mark in the mile, running it in 4:25 and Frank Maker, of California, set a new mark in the broad jump, leaping 23 ft. 1½ inches. Harry Liversedge defeated Caughey of Stanford in the shot with a heave of 45 feet 9½ inches. Liversedge also captured first in the javelin and second in the discus throw, for a total of 13 points. Nichols was the heaviest point winner for the Blue and Gold with 14. He captured first place in the hop, step and jump, and second in the high jump, broad jump and pole vault. Frisbie of California won the vault at 12 feet 1½ inch.

Fall Training Season

INSPIRED BY THE SUCCESSFUL competition against the Eastern athletes, the California track men returned to the campus in the fall of 1916 with fresh inspiration and a determination to break Stanford's winning streak of the four previous seasons. The entire fall training period was taken up by Coach Walter Christie in teaching the men the fundamentals of track competition and the correct running form. No meets against outside teams were scheduled, but a number of inter-class and intra-college meets were run. Del Rey won the annual interclub meet and Sigma Phi Epsilon the annual inter-fraternity meet.

COACH WALTER CHRISTIE

Favored by good weather the greater part of the time and plenty of competition the spring track season of 1917 was all that Coach Walter Christie could ask. A squad of more than one hundred Varsity and Freshmen signed up at the annual spring track rally held on February 13, although work had been in progress since January 24, the first week of the semester, which opened January 15.

To limber the muscles of the athletes and get ready for the season's grind, Coach Christie inaugurated a series of Saturday hikes through the Berkeley hills. Eight and ten miles were covered each week-end for the first three weeks. During the week days the squad worked out on the track, Coach Christie correcting faults and developing the correct track form.

The crunching of spikes into the cinders and the crack of the starter's pistol announced the opening of the season of competition on February 17, with the annual Novice Meet. Few Varsity stars were entered, but uniformly good times and good distances were made.

The annual interclass held on March 3, brought out strong competition, and was won by the Seniors, with 59 $\frac{1}{4}$  points. The Juniors took second with 57 and the Sophomores third with 56 $\frac{3}{4}$ . The Freshmen did not enter a team, as the 1920 class had had a meet with Lowell High School in the morning. Nichols of the Senior class was the individual star, capturing first place in the broad jump, high jump and pole vault. Clark's mark of :10-2 in the hundred, Sullivan's 4:42-3 in the mile, Johnson's :22-3 in the 220-yard dash and Nichol's 22 feet 8 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches in the broad jump, Liversedge's 46 feet 4 inches in the shot put and Richardson's 162 feet in the hammer throw were the best. C. E. Sullivan captained the Seniors, J. P. Jackson the Juniors and J. K. Moody the Sophs.

The Varsity handicap meet was held on March 10. A cold wind and a wet track hindered the competition, but despite these drawbacks several good times were made. Blanchard won the 880-yard dash in 1:57-2 and Purnell won the 220-yard dash in :22-3.

The last meet without outside competition was the Intercollege meet on March 24, which was won by Letters and Science with a score of 57 points. Agriculture followed with 51, and then came: Pre-Legal 24, Engineering colleges 9, and Chemistry 9. Sullivan of Agriculture won the mile in 4:40, Goeppert of Letters and Science, won the 440-yard dash in :51-2, Liversedge put the shot 46 feet 6 inches and Richardson threw the hammer 160 feet 3 inches. Nichols was the heaviest point winner, annexing the high jump, broad jump and pole vault. Liversedge captained Agriculture; Gibbons, Commerce; Ross, Pre-Legal; and Raisner, Letters and Science.

California vs. Pomona

THE FIRST MEET of the season against outside competition was with Pomona College on March 14. California won by a score of 80½ to 50½. The Southern athletes furnished the Blue and Gold strong competition on the track but in the field events the Varsity annexed 46 out of a possible 54 points. Captain Nichols was the individual star, taking first place in each of his favorite events—high jump, broad jump and pole vault.

In the field events the Blue and Gold athletes merely had an afternoon of practice. The Southern men seemed to have no entries in the weights and jumps.

Although a heavy rain the day before had softened the track, good times were made in almost every event. Adkinson of Pomona broke the Southern California record in the half mile by running it in 1:56, with Blanchard close at his heels. Moody and the Pomona sprinter, King, furnished keen competition in the 440-yard dash and relay, the California man winning both events by inches.

California vs. University of Southern California

THE FOLLOWING SATURDAY, March 17, the Varsity defeated the University of Southern California, 86½ to 44½. California scored 43 points on the track and 43½ in the field, as compared with U. S. C.'s 34 on the track and 10½ in the field. Nichols, Richardson, Grunsky and Jackson were the heaviest point winners for the Blue and Gold. Nichol's 12 feet 1 inch in the pole vault was the best performance of the day.

Moody lead a fast field of quarter-milers and Grunsky scored a double win in the hurdles. Sullivan won the mile and Lloyd the two-mile with little competition. Wadsworth and Gildersleeve, who was sick, did not make the trip south.

California vs. Olympic Club

IN THE LAST COMPETITION before the Big Meet with Stanford, the Olympic Club was defeated by the Varsity on April 7 by a score of 70 to 47. California took nine first places and the Olympic Club six, all on the track.

The best race of the day was between Blanchard of the Varsity and Stout of the Olympic Club. Stout won by inches in the time of 1:59. Vlught, Olympics, won the two-mile in 9:50 1-5. Jackson cleared 23 feet 3 1/4 inches in the broad jump and 6 feet 2 1/2 inches in the high jump.

California vs. Southern California All-Stars

THE VARSITY DEFEATED the Southern California All-Stars on March 31 by a score of 78 1/2 to 38 1/2. Fast times and good distances were registered in all events, but the showing of the All-Stars was disappointing. With the exception of the hurdles and sprints and one or two field events they rarely pressed the Blue and Gold entrants. On the field California annexed 35 out of a possible 45 points.

The best performance of the day was Grunsky's win in the high hurdles over Fred Kelly, former world's record holder, in the fast time of :15-1. He also won the low hurdles in :24-4. Sullivan won the mile but was disqualified on a foul. Purnell won the 200-yard dash in 23 flat and came second in the 100-yard dash. Moody romped home in the quarter in :51-2, with Pitts and Kerr second and third. Blanchard won the half in 2 minutes flat. Lampert of the All-Stars won the broad jump with a leap of 22 feet 2 inches. Maurer's tie with Nichols in the pole vault was the only first place taken by the visitors.

After the meet was over, Captain Nichols cleared 6 feet 3 inches in the high jump, and Liversedge put the shot 46 feet 9 inches, in exhibitions in their events.

CALIFORNIA-SOUTHERN ALL-STAR MEET—GRUMSKY BEATING FRED KELLY IN 220-YARD LOW HURDLES

Stanford-California Meet

By a score of 67 to 55 Stanford won its fifth straight cinder-path victory in the annual track and field meet held on California oval on April 14. The date was originally set for April 21, but it became necessary to bring it forward a week following the declaration of war with Germany. Practically every member of Stanford's track team and a large number of the Blue and Gold athletes were members of the Officers Reserve Training Corps and were ordered to be ready to report for duty at any time.

Stanford displayed unusual strength in the field and may attribute her victory to an unexpected eight points in the shot-put, when Liversedge had a reversal of form and lost to Bihlman and Caughy, and first and second places in the pole vault. The Cardinal scored 42 points on the track to California's 30, and 21 points in the field to the Varsity's 25. The calculations were upset in many events on both track and field.

Two California-Stanford records were broken and two more were tied, despite the fact that the track was slowed up to some extent by a heavy shower in the morning. J. P. Jackson of California bettered the broad jump record made by Dawson of Stanford in 1913 by one inch when he leaped 23 feet 8½ inches. Bihlman of Stanford broke the shot-put record when he heaved the lead 47 feet 8¾ inches. The former record of 46 feet

The highest individual point-winner of the day was Meredith House of Stanford, who won the low hurdles and the 100-yard dash. Grunsky of California was second and the highest point winner for the Blue and Gold with first in the high hurdles and second in the low sticks. Captain Nichols took seven points with first in the high jump, and thirds in the pole vault and broad jump.

The quarter-mile was one of the feature events of the day, with Moody of California and Rogers of Stanford contenders. Moody drew the inside lane and took the pole from the start with a fine burst of speed. On the backstretch Rogers challenged him but the Blue and Gold star had plenty of reserve power and held the inside on the second turn where he gained two yards. He increased his lead to four yards, finishing in :50-3.

Purnell furnished a thrill in the 220-yard dash when he crossed the finish a fraction of an inch ahead of Lachmund of Stanford.

Honors were divided in the distances. Chapman of Stanford took the mile with Aupperle of Stanford second. But in the two-mile Lloyd of California outran his old rival and crossed the finish 35 yards ahead of Chapman. Schnell of Stanford won the half. Blanchard of California took the lead for the first quarter but on the last stretch Schnell forged into the lead. Apperle of Stanford made a great finish and just nosed out Blanchard for second place.

The relay furnished a multitude of thrills. Jackson of California and Hertel of Stanford ran a dead heat in the first quarter in :52-3. Kerr of California and Kegley of Stanford also ran neck and neck in the second lap and when the batons were given to Dievendorf of the Cardinal and Pitts of California the runners were even. But here the tables turned. The Cardinal runner gained twelve yards and although Rogers had Moody to reckon with in the last lap the margin was too great, and Rogers broke the tape a good ten yards ahead.

Freshman Preliminary Season

AFTER A MONTH AND A HALF of preliminary training at the hands of Coach Walter Christie, during which time the Freshmen were taught the fundamentals of running and the correct track form, the 1920 men were plunged into competition with outside teams on March 3, when they met Lowell and Berkeley high schools in a triangular meet. Despite the fact that the Freshmen had only one man entered in each event they took every first place in the field and broke the tape in all but two of the track events. The score was: Freshmen 62; Lowell 59; Berkeley 26.

This meet gave Coach Christie a chance to see what track possibilities the babes had and the next few days were spent in weeding out those who showed unusual promise in the Tri-angular Meet in order that time might be concentrated upon them for their big meet with the Stanford Freshmen.

In the next meet with Lowell High the Freshmen allowed their opponents only one first place. The score was 95½ to 26½. In the last preliminary meet the Freshmen defeated the Alameda County All-Stars, 85½ to 31½. The babes made a clean sweep of first places in both track and field.

Freshman Track Meet

THE CALIFORNIA FRESHMEN won the annual track and field meet with Stanford by a score of 68 to 54, on the Stanford oval, April 7. The meet was close and the result was in doubt until the finals of the 220-yard dash were run. The Blue and Gold swept the field in that event and clinched the meet. Two Freshman intercollegiate records were smashed and one was tied. Carl Goepfert of California won the 440-yard dash in :50 4-5, better by a second than the mark set by Wyman of Stanford in 1908. Colglazier, of Stanford, ran the mile in 4:37, Boysdon of California having set the mark at 4:38 4-5 in 1908. Calden of California equalled Scott's time of :10 1-5 made by the Stanford man in 1907.

Goepfert was the star of the day. The feature race was the 440-yard dash in which Goepfert and Frank Sloman, holder of the world's intercollegiate record for the quarter-mile straightaway, were pitted against each other. The old rivals ran neck and neck to the first curve, Goepfert gained a yard on the back stretch, lengthened his lead to another yard on the final turn and came home an easy ten yard to the good. His record of :50 4-5 was all the more remarkable, as both runners were set back one yard for a false start. Goepfert also won the 880-yard dash by thirty-five yards.

Goepfert's performances were rivalled by Calden in the sprints who did :10 1-5 in the 100-yard dash and :22 1-5 in the 220-yard dash, after running heats.

Western Conference

BECAUSE THEY HAD COMPETED for an athletic club in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition games the year before, Captain-elect Nichols and Harry Liversedge were disqualified in the Western Conference track meet held at Chicago on June 3, after they had won first places in the high jump and shot-put, and third in the javelin. The rule deprived California of twelve points, which would have given the Blue and Gold third place with 24 points. As it was the Varsity took fifth place with 12 points.

Wisconsin won the meet with 49 points. Illinois took second with 35 $\frac{3}{4}$ , Chicago third with 20 $\frac{3}{4}$ , Missouri fourth with 20 $\frac{1}{4}$ , and California fifth with 12. Purdue, Mississippi, Miss. Ag., Kansas, Notre Dame Minnesota, Oberlin, Northwestern, Indiana, Ohio and Ames followed in the order named.

Liversedge broke the Conference record in the shot-put, held by Ralph Rose, with a put of 47 feet 5 inches, and took third in the javelin. Nichols won the high jump at 6 feet 1 $\frac{1}{2}$  inches. Gildersleeve won the hammer-throw with a throw of 153 feet 8 inches; with Monlux second; Jackson took third in the high jump and Lockhart took third in the broad jump.

The men who went on the Eastern trip were: Captain Preble, Captain-elect Nichols, Jackson, Lockhart, Maker, Liversedge, Richardson, Gildersleeve, Monlux, Frisbie and Young.

I. C. A. A. A. Meet

CALIFORNIA SCORED twenty-two points and tied for third place with Stanford University in the annual I. C. A. A. A. meet held in the Harvard stadium on May 27, 1916. Cornell won the meet with 44 points, while Yale was second with 29. With only a small but select team the Varsity was able to outrank Pennsylvania with 18 points, Dartmouth with 14, Michigan with 13, Harvard with 11 and Princeton with 10. Bowdoin, Syracuse, Penn. State and Massachusetts followed in the order named.

The Blue and Gold placed in five events, taking two firsts, one second, two thirds and one fourth. Liversedge won the shot with a heave of 46 feet 2 1/2 inches and Gildersleeve won the hammer throw with a throw of 155 feet 1 inch. Richardson took third in the hammer. Maker took second in the high jump, which was won at 6 feet 2 1/4 inches and was fourth in the broad jump. Preble took third in the high hurdles.

Two intercollegiate records and one world's record were broken. Meredith of Pennsylvania broke the world's record in the 440 by running it in :47.2-5. He also broke the intercollegiate half-mile record in 1:53. Murray of Stanford made a new intercollegiate record in the high hurdles of 15 flat.

The meet furnished strong competition in every event and records were threatened or tied in practically every instance where they were not actually broken. The cream of the country's athletes were entered and Harvard stadium was crowded with spectators to see the contests.

It was the third time that California had sent a track team east to compete in the I. C. A. A. A. After the Big Meet with Stanford a campaign was started to raise the money to defray expenses on the trip. A tag day and dance informal netted nearly $2,000.

The Blue and Gold did not send a team East during the 1917 season as both the I. C. A. A. A. and Western Conference meets were cancelled following the declaration of war by the United States against Germany.

1916 Washington Regatta

AFTER THE CLOSE of the spring semester in 1916 the Varsity eight went north for a return regatta with the University of Washington on May 21. Choppy water on the afternoon of the regatta prevented fast time, but did not prevent the Washington men from winning from California by nine lengths. The Varsity made a better showing against Coach Conibear's men than did Stanford, which was defeated over the same course by twelve lengths a few weeks before.

The men left Berkeley on May 12 and had a week's workout before the regatta.

The California crew was seated as follows: Bow, De Mund; No. 2, Ebner; No. 3, Black; No. 4, Hardy; No. 5, Lamb; No. 6, Congdon; No. 7, Penney; Stroke, Falck (captain); Coxswain, Gale. Coach Ben Wallis, Hogaboom and Clune also made the trip.

In the evening after the regatta the crew gathered at one of the Seattle cafes where they unanimously elected L. H. Penney '17 captain for the season of 1917.

Interclass Crew

ROWING ON a rough estuary the second Freshman crew won the annual interclass regatta held on the Oakland Estuary on the morning of February 24, crossing the finish two and one half lengths ahead of the Senior boat. The Sophomores finished third and the Juniors fourth.

The winning Freshman boat was seated as follows: Bow, Spear; No. 2, Lyons; No. 3, Tegner; No. 4, Hinsdale; No. 5, Wight; No. 6, Anderson; Stroke, Montgomery; Coxswain, Hubbard.

COACH BEN WALLIS

Varsity Season

WITH THE BENEFIT OF ONE YEAR of the new coaching system inaugurated by Ben Wallis, the 1917 crew season opened with brighter prospects for a winning eight than for a number of seasons. But after the spring semester opened the fate that continually hovers over the sport bobbed up again. Black and Lamb, both members of last year's eight were declared ineligible; the coaching launch, sent by freight, became lost and did not arrive until three weeks before the race, and finally the new shell, "California," purchased in January, was wrecked the week before the regatta.

Coach Wallis had three veterans—Captain Penney, ex-captain Falck and Congdon—and practically all of last season's victorious Freshmen crew as a nucleus. For the first time the crew was provided with separate training quarters, built beneath the west side bleachers of California Oval. The rowing machines were moved out of Harmon Gymnasium and all work done in the new quarters. Fall training started the week after the opening of the semester with more than one hundred out. Freshmen and new men worked on the rowing machines while all Varsity candidates who had had previous experience worked on the estuary in pair oars four afternoons a week.

The spring crew rally was held on January 16 and on January 22 the crews were out for their first spin on the water. The training table was opened at the Delta Upsilon house on March 17. The following were on the table:

Thomas, Penney, Falck, Congdon, Dykes, Stebbins, Jones, Reed, Gardner, Donnellan, Spear, Carter, Swank, Black, Tilden, Okell, Brown, Anderson, Kemp, Nelson, Johnson, Lyons, Wagy, Edwards, Martin and Hinsdale. Coxswains did not go on the training table as in previous years.

Pacific Coast Regatta

ROWING WITH MACHINE-LIKE PRECISION and unison, their White-tipped oar blades flashing back defiance to the Red of Stanford and the Blue of California, Washington's powerful Varsity eight flashed across the finish line with irritating ease, four lengths ahead of the Stanford boat, which led California by three lengths, in the annual regatta held on Oakland Estuary on the morning of April 14. A stiff gale blowing diagonally across the course kicked up a choppy sea of small whitecaps, a strong ebb was flowing and rain started to fall before the race was finished, which made fast time impossible.

Washington drew the inside course, Stanford the middle and California the outside. Up to the first mile California led Washington by half a length with Stanford third, but from that point on the powerful, well-timed sweep of the Northerners took them gradually away from their straining rivals. Washington covered the course in 16 min. 32 sec., Stanford in 16 min. 57 sec., and California in 17 min. 14 sec.

So rough had the water become at the finish of the Varsity event that it was decided to row the Freshman race up stream from the Webster Street bridge to the Park Street bridge. The steady business-like stroke of Washington took them past the finish two lengths ahead of the Blue and Gold, who had an advantage over Stanford of five lengths.

The Varsity Season

THE VARSITY TENNIS SQUAD went through one of the most successful seasons in the history of the sport at California. All of the prominent tennis players of the Bay region appeared on the Varsity courts, and the Blue and Gold racquet wielders either defeated or broke even with every team played with the exception of Johnston and Strachan—the strongest doubles combination in the United States at present.

A new system of selecting players was introduced by Captain E. H. Rogers in the fall. Ten men were ranked numerically by the captain. Each man was open to challenge by the man immediately below him, and if defeated had to change places with the victor. The system is continuous, and afforded a definite system for picking the men who would meet the Cardinal. The system provides that the first three men on the list shall play the singles in the intercollegiate tournament. The same method applied to the Freshman team.

A tennis rally was held for the first time, in the history of the university on February 1. Thirty-five men signed up. During all the preliminary season the men played matches with each other, paying more attention to form and stroke than to winning the match.

Gravem

EMERY ROGERS (CAPTAIN)

In two tournaments with Gardner and Strachan, the Varsity composed of Rogers and Gravem, broke even. In the first one Gardner and Strachan defeated California two sets to one, and in the second the Blue and Gold defeated the visitors two sets to one.

The Varsity also broke even in its tournaments with Davis and Roberts, losing the first, two sets to one, and winning the second by the same score. The Blue and Gold team defeated Gardner and Roberts three sets to none; Marcus and Whelan five sets to none; Whelan and Holmes two sets to one; and Gardner and Holmes four sets to one.

The Varsity proved its right to be ranked among the best doubles team on the Coast when it defeated Fred Alexander and Carl Gardner in straight sets, 7-5, 7-5, and 5-2. This team had defeated Johnston and Strachan the week before. A few days later the Varsity met Johnston and Strachan in a fast exhibition, only losing after playing five sets. The Blue and Gold won the first two, 7-5 and 6-4, lost the second two 6-4 and 7-5, and lost the match with the fifth set by 6-3.

Southern Trip

Rogers and Gravem made a clean sweep of their matches against Pomona and the University of Southern California when they invaded the South on March 16. Out of ninety-eight games played they lost but twenty-five, and were not defeated in a single set. At Pomona, Rogers and Gravem defeated Jones and Peterson 6-2, 6-3. Rogers defeated Peterson, 6-2, 6-2; Gravem defeated Jones 6-0, 7-5.

At U. S. C. Rogers and Gravem defeated Sindorf and Godshall, 6-2, 6-1; Gravem defeated Sindorf 6-2, 6-1; Rogers defeated Godshall 6-3, 6-3.

The following week U. S. C. played a return tournament on the California courts. The results follow:

Singles—Rogers (C) defeated Sindorf (U. S. C.), 6-2, 6-3. Clark (C) defeated Godshall (U. S. C.), 6-4, 4-6, 6-4. Stannard (U. S. C.) defeated Stieh (C), 2-6, 7-5, 6-2.
Doubles—Sindorf and Godshall (U. S. C.) defeated Clark and Simard (C), 6-0, 4-6, 6-4.
 Rogers and Stieh (C) defeated Stannard and Nathan (U. S. C.), 6-2, 6-2.

Stanford Series

WITH THE RESULT of the tournament hanging on the outcome of the first doubles, Rogers and Gravem of California won a hard-fought match from Barber and Johns of Stanford, 6-2, 6-0, 5-7, 6-1, and brought another tennis victory to California on April 13. The tournament was played on the California courts. Captain Rogers was defeated in the first singles after a hard match, but Gravem played brilliant tennis and won the second singles. In the first doubles the two stars played bang-up tennis. The results:

First Singles—Barber (S) defeated Rogers (C) 10-8, 6-2.
Second Singles—Gravem (C) defeated Johns (S), 6-2, 7-5.
Third Singles—Wofford (S) defeated Simard (C), 6-4, 6-1.
First Doubles—Rogers and Gravem (C) defeated Barber and Johns (S) 6-2, 6-0, 5-7, 6-1.
Second Doubles—Clark and Stieh (C) defeated Chapman and Holman (S) 6-2, 6-1, 6-3.

Freshman Tennis Season

THE FRESHMAN SQUAD also went through a successful season. The first-year men played a number of matches with high school teams around the Bay and with the Varsity during the preliminary season. They met the Stanford Freshmen April 7 on the Cardinal courts and defeated them easily. Stanford won only two of the eight sets played. The scores:

Dunhee (C) defeated Burrill (S), 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.
 Cheney (C) defeated Barry (S), 7-5, 6-4.
 Cheney and Norris (C) defeated Barry and Burrill (S), 2-6, 7-5, 6-2.

MINOR SPORTS

Cross-Country

FOR THE FIRST TIME in the history of the sport, a dual cross-country race took place between California and Stanford this year. Heretofore Stanford had refused to enter a team against the Blue and Gold on some pretense or other but finally after several years of parleying and persuasion the Cardinal distance runners were induced to race a California team for the sake of the training that it would give the distance and middle distance men for the spring track season.

The race was held on the Stanford Campus on the afternoon of November 17. The course lay over four miles of Stanford foothills stretching in and out of the rolling knolls which are so characteristic of the Cardinal Campus.

It was decided that each team should consist of fifteen men. For the purpose of choosing these fifteen, a sort of tryout in the shape of an inter-class was held on November 6, and the first fifteen in these tryouts were chosen to represent California against Stanford.

The manner of deciding the cross-country race was to take the first five men of each team who finished first and add up the points which corresponded to the place in which they finished. The team having the least number of points was the winner. Contrary to all previous "dope" the Stanford team won the race by a score of 26-29.

Soccer

FOR THE FIRST TIME in the history of soccer at California the U. C. team was returned a winner over our Cardinal rivals. The season started with prospects very bright. C. G. Shafor, captain during 1915, was chosen to coach the team, and succeeded in developing a team the equal of which would be hard to find among the colleges of the United States.

Playing in the university and club soccer league, the team got off to a bad start, being defeated by the strong combinations of the Olympic Club and the Barbarian Club, however these defeats were more than wiped out in the victories over these clubs later in the season when the men first played as a team.

The finish of the season, however, is what most pleases all those who have ever played soccer at California. After meeting defeat at the hands of the Stanford red by a score of 3-1 on November 18, the team journeyed to Stanford the following week, November 25 and there administered the long promised drubbing, coming out on the long end of a 3-2 score.

After the final game E. G. Schlapp '18 was elected to lead the team during the 1917 season, to succeed H. E. Harding '17. Schlapp hails from Australia and since coming to California he has developed into the best fullback on the Pacific Coast. The team lined up as follows:

J. B. McKinley '18 .....	Outside Right
J. W. Coulter '18 .....	Inside Right
J. L. Webster '17 .....	Center Forward
L. S. Spigehman '18 .....	Inside Left

Swimming

CALIFORNIA'S SUCCESS IN SWIMMING was more than evident during the spring semester of 1916 and a continued success is expected throughout their entire 1917 season. The work of Ludy Langer, captain of the 1916 team, was the sensation of last year's team, Langer having set several new world's records in intercollegiate and open swims.

Stanford fell before the Blue and Gold attack in their meet last year, the final score being California 41, Stanford 27. Lindsay of California won the fifty-yard swim in 28 seconds; Pedley of Stanford the 100-yard breast stroke in 1:22 4-5 seconds and the 100-yard back stroke in 1:26 seconds; Langer won both the 100 and 220 yard swims in 1:02½ and 3:31 respectively, while Lyon of California won the distance plunge with a mark of 71 feet. Kahle of Stanford took the fancy dive while California won the relay with a team composed of Lewis, Langer, Lindsay and McElroy.

This meet was exceptionally noteworthy because each event was finished in times and distances setting new intercollegiate records.

The present season started with a meet against the Piedmont swimmers, California losing 44 to 22. The only facts of note in this match were Lindsay's time in the 100-yard swim, the California captain covering the distance in the fast time of 1:00 2-5 and Lyon, also of California, making a plunge of 66 feet 5 inches.

In the season's second meet, California took but 3 points. This match, the P. A. A., brought together the best swimmers in amateur ranks and Lindsay brought California to the front by finishing third in the 100-yard championship swim, his time being 1:00 1-5 seconds. In the relay California finished third, being nosed out by Piedmont for second place.

The Varsity had a full schedule for the season just closed, meets being held on March 30 with the Los Angeles Athletic Club at Los Angeles, with the San Diego Athletic Club at San Diego the following night and with Stanford on April 20. A return meet with Piedmont was held during the latter part of the season and meets with the Olympic Club were fitted in to offer competition for the Varsity.

Prospects for a successful team in 1918 are bright because there will be a loss of but two men, Lindsay and Lyon.

Ice Hockey

ICE HOCKEY appeared as an innovation in the field of minor athletics this year and California celebrated the beginning of intercollegiate competition in this sport by defeating Stanford in the first series. The Cardinal was the only rival college to have an ice hockey team but with the interest aroused a full schedule is expected next season.

The first match was held on February 16 at the Winter Garden Rink in San Francisco and California took this game by a 4 to 1 score, starting with a rush and scoring two goals early in the match when McKim placed the puck between the Stanford net. Two more scores were made near the end of the third period by Fawcett. Purdy, of Stanford, was the only scorer for the Cardinals.

California won the intercollegiate title on March 2 when they again defeated Stanford, this time by a 3 to 0 score. The game was much cleaner and showed that California was superior to Stanford in speed and fight but lacked the team play of the Farm men. Sayre of Stanford was responsible for the low California score by his steady game at goal.

Although a third game was played it was not decisive, California having won two straight. However, the rivalry and spirit displayed in the first games was not lacking in the last match and the teams were forced to play fifteen minutes additional in an effort to break a 1 to 1 tie. The game finally ended a tie and closed the first ice hockey season.

From the interest shown and from conditions which prevail in Eastern colleges, it is probable that this sport will be ranked among those awarded circle "C's." Over 1,000 spectators were present at each of the three games and heated rivalry was shown. In all Eastern colleges where ice hockey is played, it is considered a major sport and is classed along with football, track, baseball and basketball.

Considerable credit for the starting of this sport belongs to Captain George Young. Young captained and managed the team and secured the sanction of the university to organize a team to represent California, yet receiving no aid from the university. The team was equipped and kept up by the men themselves.

Rifle Shooting

ACTIVITY ON THE RIFLE RANGE has been particularly successful this year in spite of the fact that some have tried to have the sport withdrawn from the list of minor sports. As a result of this agitation a campaign was launched to incite more interest in the pastime and the response was so gratifying that it is hoped that this activity may be allowed to retain its former status.

A great deal more shooting has been done on the ranges, both short and long distance, this spring than ever before. Those of the Rifle Club who have shown any interest at all have entered into it whole-heartedly and consequently the result of such active participation in practices has raised the standard of the team.

In competition with all the larger universities of the country this year the California team finished in sixth place. This is the first time that a Blue and Gold rifle team has placed anywhere near the front at all since the instigation of the activity. With this advance in the quality of the men's work so much in one term, it is expected that they will finish up nearer the top next year.

The national indoor intercollegiate contests have taken up most of the spring competition and the California teams have done remarkably well in these contests, having won more than three-fourths of them.

Rowing

THE SPRING OF 1917 has seen unprecedented activity in women's rowing. One hundred and fifty girls have manifested keen interest in the sport and have faithfully wielded their oars throughout the season under the direction of Coach Maude Cleveland, head of the Physical Education Department. Practice has been held regularly on Lake Merritt in the navy cutters which carry a crew of twelve rowers, a pilot and a coxswain. This spring the Seniors had one crew on the water, the Juniors and Sophomores each two, and the Freshmen four.

For the first time in the history of the sport, the season opened with a month's indoor practice on rowing machines, the property of the A. S. U. C. On the lake the result of this practice showed itself in more efficient blade work and a lengthened stroke. Two new sets of oars were bought by Sports and Pastimes, as the result of the sale of two unused rowboats. The five sets of oars which the university owns were given a bright coat of California blue paint, the blade tipped off with a gold "C." A new locker for these oars was built and installed at the Municipal Boat House.

The crowning event of the season was the first annual regatta held at Lake Merritt on the morning of April 7. Here interclass races were held amid waving of pennants, the playing of the University Cadet Band, and the lively interest of the spectators.

Hockey

THE FALL OF 1916 saw the end of hockey's second successful season in the history of the sport at California. The season began early with more girls signed up for each sport than ever before, approximating about one hundred and forty girls. The sport was new to a great many of these girls but, in spite of the handicap, perseverance won out and before the end of the season everyone had an intelligent grasp of the game.

About the first of October the first and second class teams were picked and a round-robin series of games followed. These games were spread over a period of three weeks, during which time both teams kept training according to rules drawn up by Sports and Pastimes. During this time class spirit was at its highest pitch. There was a great deal of enthusiastic rivalry and the competition between all classes was good. The Sophomores carried off the honors of the season by defeating all of the other three classes. On Saturday morning, November 25, the date of the Women's Fall Athletic Day, an exhibition game was played on Hearst Field between the Sophomore and Freshman teams—the Sophomores again coming out victorious.

No outside games were played, all attention and effort being given by Miss Elliott, the coach, and Evelyn Petch, the manager, to the development of four good class teams. Numerals were given to all those who made the first team and who faithfully kept training. In addition, an all-star team was picked by Miss Elliott and each member was given an emblem characteristic of the sport. Those who made the all-star team were:

FENCERS IN ACTION

Fencing

ALTHO, AS A SPORT AMONG WOMEN, fencing can never rank as high in popularity or numbers as such activities as basketball and hockey, nevertheless it has continued to hold its own during the past year.

The sport took a new start in the fall when Mr. Miller, an expert fencer and formerly coach at Columbia University, was secured to coach the girls. During the fall semester an average of from forty to fifty girls turned out and were drilled in the rudiments of the sport in preparation for the interclass and Varsity contests which were held this spring.

In the spring semester the girls were organized in classes under class captains and assigned definite hours of practice, Edith Logan '17 and Mr. Miller acting as coaches as before. The class teams were chosen the last week in March, each team having three members and one substitute. After three weeks of training and hard practice the interclass series was fenced during the third week in April.

On April 21, Women's Athletic Day, the Varsity team, consisting of five girls and a substitute, met the Stanford team in Hearst Hall, in competition for the possession of the large silver loving cup, given by Mrs. Lathrop of Stanford and awarded to the team winning the contest.

It is hoped that next year many more girls will become interested in the sport as it provides mild exercise for those who are too busy to go out for some heavier activity.

VARSITY TENNIS TEAM

Tennis

THE TENNIS SEASON FOR 1916 and 1917 has been a peculiarly successful one from the standpoint of competition. During the first semester tryouts were carried on and twenty girls picked—five on each class team—to represent California in the interclass-intercollegiate matches with Stanford. These matches proved very successful and California won by large scores.

The second semester Miss Miriam Hall, one of the finest coaches in the Bay region, was obtained to coach a large Varsity squad and develop material for this year's team as well as next year's.

On March 31 U. S. C. played California on the home courts and a great deal of interest was taken in the matches. Just two weeks later, April 14, four girls—Claire Tucker '16, Anna Carter '17, (captain and manager) Beatrice Gerberding '18, and Elizabeth Beall '19—journeyed south to Los Angeles where matches were played with U. S. C. and Occidental.

On April 21 the big Women's Spring Sports Day, the All-California tennis team was announced, and gold tennis racket pins, the All-California emblem, were awarded.

No review of tennis is complete without mentioning the splendid aid and co-operation of the physical education department. In every way they were always ready to help, and great thanks is due them for their untiring efforts in teaching the girls the fundamentals of the game as well as starting out the novices.

Swimming

SWIMMING AS A WOMEN'S SPORT has made vast strides since the opening of the Hearst Pool in the spring of 1915. The beginning of the fall term of 1916 found the tank filled to its capacity every day, both with those receiving their first instructions in swimming and diving and also by those who were more advanced along those lines. Sixty girls signed up for swimming this year as their choice for a sport. Organized into classes, these girls with the help of two very competent coaches, Miss Armour, of the Physical Education Department, and Miss Anderson, the life-guard, were taught correct forms of diving and stroking, as well as practical life-saving.

Interclass meets were held each Friday afternoon. From the best of these swimmers of each class seven were chosen to represent their respective classes in the final interclass meet held on Fall Sports Day. As a result of this meet all those who competed on their first-class teams were awarded numerals. An All-California team, picked by the coaches from the five best swimmers, received medals in the shape of small gold life-preservers. The girls receiving these medals were Ruth Heynemann '17, Jane Halbert '17, Gladys Basye '18, Mary Heger '19 and Portia Wagenet '19.

Water-polo was added this spring to the already large list of women's sports. Goals were placed in the tank for the use of the water-poloists and from the enthusiastic turn-out for the first practice the new sport looks as though it is here to stay.

Preparations are already being made in the tank for the increased number of swimmers which is expected to turn out next year.

Baseball

BASEBALL STARTED THIS YEAR as an organized sport among women, under the management of Helen E. Rosenberg '17. The game is played under regulation rules, although the field is not of regulation size.

Among the fifty girls, who turned out for regular practice, there was exceptionally good material and under the able coaching of Miss Edna Roof of the Physical Education Department, the girls learned the rudiments of our national game, at the same time becoming deeply interested in the sport.

There were not enough girls out for class teams, but Upper Division and Lower Division teams were chosen. The girls making these teams were awarded their numerals. A preliminary game between teams representing the "even" and "odd" classes, was played, in which the odds were victorious, 13-9. The final game between the Upper and Lower teams was played on the Women's Spring Athletic Day.

This is the first season that baseball has been an organized sport and judging from the number of girls who turned out, and from the interest shown, the selection of an All-California team next season is assured. It is hoped that by next year, there will be increased facilities for women's baseball in the shape of one or more fields of regulation size. Much difficulty was experienced this year on account of the limited ground on which to play. Consequently the progress of the sport was greatly hindered.

WEARERS OF THE WOMEN'S

THE AWARD OF A "C" to women athletes has undergone a change during the past year and the discrimination of sports has been discarded to be replaced by a general standard decided upon by managers of sports, various coaches and members of the Sports and Pastimes Society. Good scholarship enters into the new award, especially in physical education subjects, and the candidate must live up to training rules, have a good posture and carriage. She must be sportsman-like in spirit and must be efficient in at least two sports. No Freshman woman can receive a "C," and candidates have opportunities to compete in athletic events in the interclass and intercollegiate matches with Stanford and on the two women's field days.

Undergraduate Reminiscences

By HAROLD A. BLACK '17

HIS SOUL IS DEAD INDEED, who can look forward to the setting of our sun without a little pang of regret—along with the keen anticipation of the burst of glory with which we make our triumphant exit from California. A Senior is a pretty sentimental soul, if you can get him to stop a moment to think about it—and what it all means; parting overnight with all these bosom friends that it took four years to acquire; laying down our scepters as kings of this little world of ours to become vassals once again in the real world outside.

It is only in the last few weeks that we realize that Father Time has been playing tricks on us. We certainly had no thought for anything but the living present back in 1913 when we jostled our seventeen hundred odd associates about California Hall, wrestling with the red-tape of registration. It was then that we met our friends, the enemy, in the persons of the Sophomores, to whose attentions we took anything but kindly and ever brooded unchristian revenge. We had our opportunity a week after registration. We assembled in front of the gym and after being baptized in venomous green paint, vowed to teach 1916 something about the game of push-ball. We did—to the tune of three to nothing—and as we returned across the campus almost sans clothing, each one of us realized that 1917 had found itself.

At the Freshman Rally when Henry Morse Stephens told us we were "not a class, but a mob," we listened respectfully but we didn't agree with him. During the year we demonstrated rare prowess on the athletic field; we lost to U. S. C. in football 6-0, but we beat them in tennis and in baseball. We won the interclass regatta, and in the track meet against U. S. C., we ran up a bigger score than did the Varsity two weeks before.

Most of us survived the ravages of the recorder's office, and returned in the fall of 1914, to become proud possessors of racy looking pipes and racier caps. We battled with the Freshmen to a tie that year in push-ball, but afterwards looked after their welfare with tender solicitude and prevented them from breaking sacred campus traditions. This was the year of the threatened invasion of the campus by the hated Red from down at the farm, and as custodians of the crucial point of attack—the Big "C", we Sophomores had a peculiar responsibility. So much enthusiasm was engendered that year that it seemed as though we could not lose in football, but we were opposing too good a team. Nevertheless the 8 to 26 score does not indicate how hard fought the game was.

The spring semester brought retribution in the shape of a baseball victory. But epochal events happened that term—California Day, on which occasion four thousand Californians returned to their Alma Mater to renew old acquaintances, was a gala event. But perhaps of greater interest to the undergraduate was the break with Stanford. Rugby was thrown into the scrap-heap and a new and strange foe, Washington, was talked about.

Potentate clad in regal splendor never sat upon his throne with more satisfaction than we Juniors, when, resplendent in corduroys, we sank into the Upper Class Bench. Apparently we were not very energetic politicians for we couldn't even scare up a competitor for Tom Elliott for Junior "Prex." But we did care about having a good time on Junior Day—we had the most glorious Prom ever staged and as for the financial side, it was worth it! We mourned over the Washington disaster and rejoiced in the remarkable 8-13 "come-back" a week later.

The second semester came around with the class under the leadership of Imra Wann. Labor Day proved the event of the term. Floyd Stewart was chosen A. S. U. C. president by a large majority and Anna Barrows and Carol Eberts defeated their male opponents for places on the Executive Committee, which had been re-created by a revision of the constitution. We gloried in another baseball victory, but again admitted defeat in a track meet. We congratulated Krusi and Stewart on their success in editing and managing our Blue and Gold.

We found the reins of government as Seniors not too difficult to manage, and under Tom Slaven began our routine of control. Weekly the men and women met in their Senior halls and discussed affairs of state. A Senior endowment plan was evolved which, modeled after those followed in Eastern universities, should be successful because simple.

By this means we are enabled to have a permanent class organization, through which we may remain intact in years after graduation.

We started our last semester, and looked about for candidates for our president, not only for the last term but also for our graduate years. We nominated George Cohen and Harold Hyde, and, after a spirited contest, the former won by a narrow margin.

And when we don the cap and gown and step upon the stage to receive the coveted parchment, not one of us can forget the debt of gratitude we owe our Alma Mater; not one can forget those who made possible our coming here, the friends we have made, or our professors who have labored earnestly and not altogether in vain we trust, to give us some idea of the meaning of a university course of study.

Nineteen Seventeen—Freshmen yesterday, Seniors to-day, Alumni tomorrow—says "ave atque vale." May she ever render good service to her university, to her state and to her country!

Fraternity Statistics

The following statistics concerning the national fraternal organizations have been compiled from the World Almanac for 1917, and Baird's Manual of American College Fraternities, eighth edition. The dates of the establishment of the local chapters, as well as the number of active members, have been taken from the lists which were submitted to the BLUE and GOLD staff by the respective organizations. Any cases of doubt or conflict in dates were referred to the local chapters for verification:

JOSHES

The night was dark
The sky was blue;
The sweet Young Thing
Found an inch of space
Next a pair of cords,
With a weed in its face.
The juice went off,
The lights went out—

What d'ye mean, Tommy Reed says its hard for even an honest man to keep his hands in his pockets?

"Is there an opening here for a bright, energetic young man?"

"Yes; an' close it as you go out."

BAB CLARKSON'S IDEA OF AN IDEAL CAMPUS

A Shear's Prayer

After reading the little poem appearing in the Woman's Issue of the Pelican, entitled "She's the Lame!" by Art Wilson.

Dear God, forgive us for our sins,
For powder, paint and hump-back pins,
For colored hose and skittish air,
For cigarettes smoked anywhere—
It's done for ART.

Be merciful when we do try,
The thrills that lurk in "Extra Dry."
French classes teach us how to live,
And we to that attention give—
For it is ART.

Forgive us for our high-heeled shoes,
For non-attendance, unpaid dues,
For gawdy skirts, unduly short,
Forgive us for we merely court,
To ART.

Forgive us then for all these things,
Including bracelets and ear-rings,
You see it is not jest or play
But deadly earnest so we may,
One of us some happy day
Be engaged to ART.

The Vanished Lottery

When we went wooing, ages since, we learned the lady's views
Concerning churches, dances, books, or expurgated news;
We thrilled to hear her talk about the topics of the day,
Like Dieken's newest novelette, or Browning's sweetest play.
'Twas joy enough for us to see the damsel of our choice.
It didn't matter WHAT she said, we liked to hear her voice.
We took her inner views on faith, we wooed and won and wed,
Before we had the vaguest glimpse of what was in her head.

It's different now—these modern girls discuss with pith and zest
The things their grandmas didn't know—or kept inside the chest.
The fresh young voices prate of sin, the social evil vice,
And divers other vital things which aren't considered "nice."
The swain who woos in days like these, no doubt can plague or vex—
He knows his darling's inmost thoughts on every phase of sex.

Our ancient charmers—bless their hearts—did so devise their dress
That of the things they wore beneath no manly man might guess.
They showed us hooped and flouney frocks, which perfect forms revealed.
The men were fooled, deceived, beguiled, by imperfections thus concealed.
We had to marry ere we knew what ladies really wore—
At least no righteous male dared own he'd found it out before.

But nowadays, the modest maid rejoices to display,
Her raiments' inner mysteries adown the broad highway.
Serene, unblushing, calm and cool, to passers-by she shows
The ribbons of her brassiere, the texture of her hose.
Chemise and slip and knickers, too, the modern fashion bares—
None save a blind man now need wed, unknowing what she wears.

We paid our court to maids whose forms escaped our avid gaze,
Who cheated nature's lines and curves in many cunning ways.
If they wore freckles on their arms—as damsels often did—
These sweet defects, like dearer charms, remained securely hid.
They showed their faces, bared their hands, revealed a furtive shoe,
But bow-legged, knock-kneed, stout or slim,—we wed 'em ere we knew.

But days of yore no longer are; the present woman kind
Displays most everything she has, each single curve and line.
No modern lover raves about his ladies lips or eyes.
Why should he? He's a connoisseur of ankles, knees and thighs.
The mysteries we wed to solve are cleared at tea or dance.

THANK GOD! A MAN CAN MARRY NOW AND NEVER TAKE A CHANCE.

CLEANING THE CITY

Half a Yard Upward

When the price of textile fabrics
Took to soaring toward the skies
Sweet Miss Flight—the crafty creature—
Said “I’ll economize.”
Hence the briefness of the dresses,
Hence the skirts cut apron-wise—
May save a strain on the pocket-book,
But just doubles the strain on the eyes.

Being Subtle

I love all the co-eds,
Their skirts are so short
And if I don’t tell them
They’ll give me much sport.
So I’ll tell them they’re pretty,
Not drive them away.
And their ankles I’ll look at
On each windy day.

Political Prattle

Come around, come around
Any old nan
Give us your ballots
As fast as you can
If you’ll vote for us
We’ll have you to tea
Never mind for what office

HERE HE IS

NABBED TWICE AS SPEEDER IN THREE DAYS

L. F. Krul of Atlanta Awarded
$50 for second offense

L. V. Krut, of Alameda, ardently agrees fully with the old adage that the way of the transgressor is hard.
He was captured for the second time within two days this morning, for depending on this county. Judge planning equity before the first of town, say about $15 for the first of town and $25 for the second.
Recently, while motoring with McIntosh, was heading up the new near the Merced bridge, he heard the last part of an auto engine and talking up the chain, he caught Krut who was speeding 45 miles per hour.
Krut was taken to plead before Judge
Mabers today.

It was while Krust was on his way to see the judge here this morning that he was stabbed a second time. Evidently he was in a hurry to leave the probatorium for his Saturday's affairs, noted not to come to promenade as he was disturbed today at 40 million.

Kron had little to say concerning his two friends, other than to remark that the fifty dollar fine was a hard one for them.

The Bare Facts

A pretty cave girl with hair of gold
Looked at the cave man bold,
Who had the sand
To ask her hand,
As his love he hotly told.

"Suppose," she asked, and hung her head,
"That after we were wed

We were lost in the forest wide—
No cave, no fire, and cold your little bride!
What would you do?" she said.

That cave man's smile became a grin
As he eyed the prize he'd win.

"Ha-ha," he laughed,
"D'ye think I'm daft?
I'd snuggle you close in your little bear skin!"

Hush Alpha Phi's, upon the hill-top,
If Nan should sneeze, the campus would rock.
If she should leave, the campus would fall
And down would come Alpha Phi, Y. W. and all.

An Appreciation

AS the presses are rumbling away on the last few pages of the 1918 BLUE AND GOLD and we can do no more, the editor and manager cannot help but let their minds wander over the past year, recalling its trials and tribulations along with its joys and pleasures. And as we review the past, we realize the utter impossibility of bringing the present volume to its completed form without the help of those who have labored without honor and unthanked, with an interest and sincerity which merits obligations. And we wish to take this means, meager as it may seem, of showing our appreciation.

To Pedro J. Lemos and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Shaw, do we wish to extend our deepest and heartfelt thanks. For without their sincere and untiring efforts the 1918 BLUE AND GOLD would be lacking in many of its finer details and attractive features. Their willingness to give their time and assistance at the sacrifice of their own interests has made an everlasting impression upon the members of the staff who have been in closer touch with the progress of the book.

And to the members of the staff, who have labored unceasingly in their efforts to comply with the persistent demands of the editor and manager, in an endeavor to make their burden lighter, we desire to express our appreciation.

We wish further to thank the Sunset Publishing House whose congenial staff of employees, by their co-operation and suggestions, have made the work a pleasure; the American Engraving and Color Plate Company, for the prompt and efficient manner in which the high-grade cuts were delivered; John Kitchen, Jr., whose interest and ever ready advice have made for a better volume; Blake, Moffitt & Towne, for the courteous treatment and straightforward business dealings; and the Independent Pressroom who have exceeded their obligations in the production of the color work.
